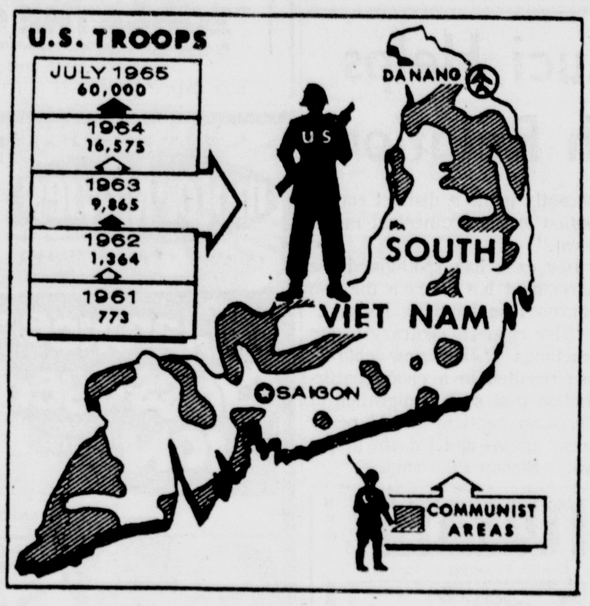
Marines Landing At Viet Ports In Troops Buildup

Launched In Emergency; Fight Seen

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — About 2,800 U.S. Marines landed at two ports of central Viet Nam today as part of an 8,000-man leatherneck buildup that seemed launched on an emergency basis.

A U.S. spokesman announced the rest will come ashore in the next week to boost American military strength in Viet Nam to nearly 60,000 men. The movement coincides with heavy Communist probing of government towns in the central highlands.

Depending on decisions in Washington and Saigon, the Marines may be called on to meet a Red force that U.S. intelligence men believe to be North Viet Nam's 325th Division, part of which is known to have infiltrated South Viet Nam several months ago.



INCREASE—A combat force of 8,000 more U.S. Marines has started landing in the Da Nang area of South Viet Nam, to increase the number of U.S. military personnel to a record 60,000. UPI chart shows increase in U.S. troops in Viet Name since 1961.

Swarming in from U.S. Navy ships in the South China sea, the Marine vanguard landed at Qui Nhon and Da Nang, 170 miles apart. The spokesman said the rest of a 3,400-man force will debark tomorrow and 4,600 will follow later.

About midway between the two Marine landing points, the district capital of Dak, in the central highlands 280 miles northeast of Saigon, was reported overrun by the Viet Cong last night and was believed still in Communist hands late today. A U.S. spokesman said an American adviser with a relief unit was wounded when the relief force was ambushed and forced back.

As the Marines began coming ashore, about 25 B52 bombers of the U.S. Strategic Air Command flew 2,200 miles from Guam and dropped about 500 tons of bombs on an area in the Communist-infested D Zone jungle 35 miles northeast of Saigon. A U.S. spokesman said no ground assessment of the damage had been made yet.

It was the third raid on a D Zone area by the huge eight-jet bombers.

U.S. Army paratroopers combing another sector of D Zone with a force of Vietnamese and Australian troops got into an intense, half-hour clash with the Viet Cong today about 25 miles northeast of Saigon and were pinned down briefly by machine-gun fire.

A U.S. spokesman declined to say if there were any American casualties. He said the Viet Cong broke off the attack after helicopters began strafing the area.

The operation began yesterday. The combined force blew up Viet Cong tunnels and abandoned huts, but made only negligible contact with the enemy Tuesday.

U.S. officials reported that American forces during the past week had suffered 81 casualties,

Novato Budget Voted, Nearly Triples Taxes

Park Site Purchases Biggest Single Hike —30 Cents On Rate

Novato City councilmen spent four and one-half hours in budget session last night and then approved a preliminary budget of $1,140,525 for fiscal 1966, calling for an increase in the city tax rate from 33 cents to 92 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The budget is $127,330 higher than that requested by City Mgr. J. Julien Baget.

The council approved a 30-cent tax to raise $99,000 for park land acquisition by 4-to-1 vote. Councilman Wayne Womack opposed the tax and said:

BONDS URGED

"It's not that I'm against parks, but I think we are going at it wrong. We should do it through a bond issue."

The council had requested that citizens attend the meeting to speak on the park tax issue. About 30 attended, but only Harry Leff Jr. of 3 Nova Lane opposed the tax.

Sentiments of others in the audience were expressed by Robert Niebur of 1426 Cambridge Street, who said he wanted to see the city get parks "at any cost."

Grant Morse of the Novato Civic Foundation restated the aim of his group to help the city acquire park lands "either by outright purchase or by the time purchase plan."

STREET PROJECTS

The budget includes $131,950 of a capital improvement program for street and drainage projects which will eventually cost the city $854,275.

Of the money for capital improvements, $119,550 will come from gasoline tax funds, the remainder of $12,400 from the city's general fund.

Split Board Vote Asks Brown Veto Of Transit Bill

Marin County supervisors by 3-2 vote late yesterday asked Gov. Edmund G. Brown to veto a bill giving cities two representatives on the Marin Transit District Board.

The bill, by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, called for increasing the transit district board from five to seven members, with the two additional members to be selected by the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen. The five supervisors comprise the transit district board as now constituted.

Chairman Peter H. Behr and Supervisor Thomas T. Storer dissented strongly from the veto vote,, Behr reminding fellow supervisors that the cities had been promised representation.

Yesterday's debate was a repeat of that early last month when the board voted 4-1 to oppose Bagley's bill. Behr persuaded fellow supervisors to rescind that action later the same day. This occurred just a week before the Civic Center band issue vote, and supervisors were chary of offending anyone.

Yesterday, the board received a letter from the Marin Council of Civic Affairs reporting it was asking the governor to veto Bagley's bill.

Supervisors Ernest N. Kettenhofen and Byron W. Leydecker said the city members would only represent their own cities. They said all advisory committee representing all 11 cities would be a more proper approach.

Storer, who had joined in opposing the bill at the earlier discussion, said his mind had been changed by what he learned when attending a meeting of the Council of Mayors and Councilmen.

Objections to lack of city representation on the transit district board were raised at a meeting of the Council of Mayors and Councilmen in March of last year by then-Mayor John F. McInnis of San Rafael. Mayors and councilmen at the meeting were disturbed to learn that a bill for creation of the district, also introduced by Bagley, called for only the supervisors as governing board.

The Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission on Aug. 13 of last year voted 3-0 to ask the supervisors to seek legislation to permit city representation on the transit board. The board of supervisors on Aug. 25 agreed to ask that the legislature amend the law to provide such representation.

It was Behr's recommendation at that time that the amendment be sought. Leydecker proposed an advisory board from the cities instead, but agreed to go along with the recommendation, which passed unanimously.

This was the recommendation which resulted in Bagley's bill which passed both houses during this year's legislative term.

California Passes N.Y. In Incomes

SACRAMENTO (UPI)— California's total personal income finally has moved ahead of New York, the California State Chamber of Commerce said today.

The chamber said current figures indicate California's personal income will total $59.7 billion for the year, compared to $58.9 billion for New York.

Meanwhile, the Department of Finance estimated California personal income for the year at $59.1 billion, a bit lower than the chamber figure but still a fraction higher than the chamber estimate for New York.

The state did not give an estimate for New York.

Chamber President Milton M. Teague called the California gain, about $3.5 billion more than last year, an "historic achievement" for California.

"This is nothing temporary. We shall continue to widen our lead. All signs point to it."

The state broke down its figure into wage and salary payments of $40.2 billion, proprietors' income of $6 billion, transfer payments of $5 billion, and property income of $8 billion.

France Firm On Market Stand

PARIS (AP) — France held firm today to its decision to boycott Common Market meetings following last week's breakdown in efforts to negotiate agricultural financing provisions.

Information Minister Alain Peyrefitte told a crowded news conference after a Cabinet meeting that the government held to its statement made last Thursday.

At that time, the Cabinet said "there is no question, for the moment, of France participating in any new meetings concerning the Common Market in Brussels."

WHERE THE WOMEN AND BUFFALOES WORK

Thoughtful Husband Picks Up Wife-Saver Ideas In Viet Nam

By HAL BOYLE

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — An open letter home:

Dear friend wife:

Believe me, baby, when I get back home you're going to be the one who carries out the garbage. It's an old Vietnamese custom that a lot of American men over here are beginning to think makes sense.

I know that there is nothing makes a U.S. woman madder than to tell her she has an easy life — that she is overprivileged and underworked. But I tell you, roundeyes, your eyes would get even rounder if you saw how Vietnamese women live — and apparently like it.

Men have only two chief labor-saving devices in this country — women and water buffaloes. The women work harder.

In the rice paddy country the men and the buffaloes feel they've done their bit when they've finished plowing. But women toil in the fields, tend the kids, do the cooking and the laundering, and take care of the chickens, ducks and pigs. The ideal wife is one who produces a good rice crop and a baby every year.

Most of the country's products seem to be transported on women's backs. They use bamboo shoulder poles from which heavily loaded baskets are suspended fore and aft. To balance the baskets, the women walk with a peculiar rhythmic shuffle.

The Vietnamese toiler earns her dough the hard way in the city, too. About 20 per cent of the labor force is feminine.

Women work as ditch diggers, dock wallopers, hod carriers, plasterers and as laborers on heavy construction projects. They get a daily wage of from about 85 cents to $1.20 — depending on their skills.

"The average woman gets almost twice as much done as a man in a day," said an American construction engineer. "Of course, I don't know whether she lasts as long.

"But they're all pretty cheerful about life, hard as it is. They aren't nearly as frustrated as our women back home. Maybe they've got the answer over here."

It seems that the harder wives work, the fewer husbands die of ulcers and coronaries.

Well, I guess that's about all the good news I have to report for now. When I get home, get ready to set another rice bowl on the table. By the way, I'm bringing along a bamboo shoulder pole — to make your trips to the supermarket a little easier. You'll get the hang of it in no time, and be the envy of all the other wives in the neighborhood.

Your ever-thoughtful husband Harold

President's Medicare Measure Is Changed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate today adopted its first significant amendment to President Johnson's $6.8 billion medicare bill by voting to let retired persons begin drawing Social Security benefits at age 60.

Beneficiaries now can begin drawing 80 per cent of full benefits at age 62. Under Democratic West Virginia Sen. Robert C. Byrd's amendment, they would be able at age 60 to begin drawing benefits equal to two-thirds of the amount to which they would be entitled if they retired at 65.

Frouge Revises Density, Blasts 'Emotionalism'

Frouge Corp. will not appeal Marin County Planning Commission denial of a density variance to permit its proposed plan for Marincello.

Instead, according to a letter to the planning commission from E. Warren McGuire, attorney for Frouge, the company will revise its Marincello plan to conform with 3.5 residential units per acre, set as maximum density in county zoning ordinance.

McGuire said the original plan, with a density of 5.9 units per acre, will be revised by reducing the number of apartment buildings. This will mean a reduction of about 40 per cent in the light industrial, commercial and office uses in the original plan, he said.

McGuire's letter said "we are upset by the tenor and emotionalism of our opposition, its destructive, rather than constructive critism of the plan."

He asked that the commission set a workshop session on the new plan prior to its regular July meeting. He said the new plan would be filed with the county planning department by Friday.

Session Ends With Problems

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The 1965 legislature's special session is over, but its legacy of political and fiscal problems remain.

A quiet, finale, following final passage of a bill to buy land for a new state park at Lake Tahoe, brought the meeting to an end yesterday, 12 days after Gov. Brown called the lawmakers back to Sacramento.

He is expected to ask them to return in the fall for action on a federal - state medical care program.

For the Democrats, there was the liklihood of heading into 1966's elections bitterly divided —and asking for more new taxes.

For the Republicans, the problem was a smaller one—holding on to strength they developed on the legislative floor this year and using it to advantage in election year.

"I would say it was a good session," the Democratic governor said when he summed things up at his news conference yesterday.

But he didn't help Democratic unity when he criticized the legislature — particularly the Assembly—for assuming executive branch prerogatives.

Aiming directly at Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh's prized program of hiring consultants to help legislators make decisions, Brown said "sometimes these consultants are very brilliant young men and they can assist."

"But they've had no experience with the actual operation of government and I think they can frustrate some good legisla-

Father Fails To Face Legal Problems

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Police Lt. Thomas E. O'Neal is still too upset over the rape of his daughter to understand legal action he faces for shooting what he believed was a suspect, his attorney says.

O'Neal

O'Neal, police said, fired his service revolver in a police station last Friday where three men were waiting to be questioned about the attack.

One bullet wounded Carl E. Norman, 21, who is hospitalized in serious condition. Police say Norman is no longer a suspect in connection with the rape.

O'Neal, 41, has been suspended from the force, booked on suspicion of assault with intent to commit murder and charged by police officials with shooting a suspect "without just and reasonable cause."

His daughter, Shirley Diane, 19, has been under psychiatric care since she was attacked a week ago.

Police said Miss O'Neal identified four more California youths as her assailants yesterday. Five now have been charged with forcible rape.

Boy, 4, Saves Family, Dies In Fire

OAKLAND (AP)—The mother of a 4-year-old boy who perished yesterday in a fire has told firemen that the child saved the lives of two brothers, a sister and herself.

"Mommy, there's smoke in the house," little Mark Milhorn screamed, waking Mrs. Betty Milhorn and her year-old daughter, Christine.

Then, Mark went upstairs and awakened his brothers, Michael, 5 and Randall, 8.

When the family started down a stairway to safety, the 4-year-old ran back into his bedroom instead of following.

Paul Undberg, a telephone repairman of El Cerrito, saw a small face appear at the upstairs bedroom window. Undberg climbed a ladder to the window.

"I motioned to the little boy to come to me. He was on the other side of the room. But the boy didn't understand. Obviolsly confused, he climbed under a dresser."

Firemen found the small boy's body there.

Rights Aides Back Embezzling Suspect

SELMA, Ala. (AP)—Civil rights leaders have rallied to the support of one of their number, the Rev. Frederick D. Reese of Selma, who is charged with embezzling $1,850 from the organization which he heads.

Reese

Reese, a lieutenant of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. in the Alabama civil rights campaign, was indicted yesterday on three charges of embezzling from the Dallas County Voters League, a key organization in the lengthy civil rights drive in Selma and Dallas County earlier this year.

The Rev. Ralph Abernathy, vice president of King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference, flew into Selma last night with other leaders assigned by King to investigate the charges made against the Negro minister.

Selma Mayor Joe Smitherman and City Safety Director Wilson Baker stressed at a news conference after Reese's indictment that the investigation was begun only after Negro civil rights workers complained.

Presidential Disability Bill To States

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has given its final stamp of approval, and now it's up to the state legislatures to decide whether an amendment covering presidential disability should be added to the Constitution.

Senate approval of the proposed amendment came yesterday on a 68-5 roll call vote.

The House had given its approval on a voice vote last Wednesday. President Johnson's signature is not required.

The proposed amendment would supplant a provision of Article II, Section 1, of the Constitution.

Article II says that in the case of the inability of the president to carry out his duties "the same shall revolve on the vice president." It stipulates that Congress can provide for the inability of both the president and vice president, set up a line of succession to the office, with such officer to act as president "until the disability be removed, or a president shall be elected."

In acting on the proposed 25th Amendment, the Senate brushed aside Sen. Albert Gore's contentions that the language needed further clarification.

Debate centered on a provision under which the vice president and a majority of the Cabinet — or such other body as Congress might set up — could notify Congress in writing that the president was unable to perform his duties and the vice president would take over.

However, if the president sent a written declaration to Congress that he had no disability, he would resume his office unless the vice president and a majority of the Cabinet notified Congress of their disagreement within four days.

If it were not in session, Congress would be required to meet in 48 hours and resolve the dispute within 21 days. If both houses decided by a two-thirds majority vote that the president was disabled, the vice president would continue to function. Otherwise the president would resume office.

There was no argument over the provision of the proposed amendment in which a president voluntarily could notify Congress he was disabled and could resume his duties by certifying he was well again. Debate centered only on the sections dealing with a dispute over his resumption of office.

Neither was there any opposition to a provision under which a president could nominate a vice president to fill a vacancy in that office. The president's nominee would take office if a majority of both houses confirmed the appointment.

Rain, Storms Hit Sections Of Country

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorms and rain pummeled scattered sections of the Midwest and Southeast early today and an unseasonal chill dipped into portions of the Northeast.

But there was only a little break in the crippling drought that gripped portions of the Southwest, the Northeast and sections of the Far West.

Among low eastern readings today was 38 degrees at Old Town, Me.

Tornadoes and heavy rain, in some places accompanied by hail, struck portions of the nation's midsection yesterday.

Wide sections of Minnesota reported up to one inch of rain, and in the Twin Cities more than 1½ inches fell yesterday. At least two tornadoes dipped over Minnesota towns during the day.

In the Chicago area, more than two inches of rain fell over a wide section north and southwest of the city. Some utility lines were downed, causing power breaks from 30 minutes to two hours.

A tornado was sighted over Chicago's South Side in the early evening. A tornado did some property damage near Milledgeville, in Carroll County, in northwestern Illinois. Tornadic winds uprooted trees and downed utility lines at Crystal Lake, Ill., about 50 miles north of Chicago, where heavy tornado damage occurred in the spring.

Winds of tornadic proportion raked sections of Oklahoma and at least two tornadoes were sighted yesterday. There were some injuries and property damage. Winds hit 80 to 90 m.p.h. at Oklahoma City and Ponca City. Hail up to an inch in diameter fell during a half-hour storm that brought an inch of rain at Oklahoma City.

Bullets Fly In Dominican Buffer Strip

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Brazilian, Nicaraguan and Honduran troops of the inter-American peace force exchanged heavy fire with the Dominican rebels for half an hour last night, a peace force spokesman said.

The rebels traded shots for five minutes with U.S. paratroopers nearly two hours later, the spokesman added.

He said a U.S. paratrooper was reported captured by rebel troops but it was not immediately known whether the capture was connected with the shooting.

No injuries were reported during the flareups.

The spokesman said troops of the military-civilian junta did not fire at any time during the exchanges.

The incidents were the most serious since mid-June and threatened negotiations by an Organization of American States mediating committee to establish a compromise government.

BUT—AREN'T CANS ROUND THESE DAYS?

LONDON (UPI) — Australian officials reported today that a square pineapple is being developed at the Alston Tropical Research Station in New South Wales.

"It is intended for canning and has been developed to produce a more-can-shaped fruit which will be less wasteful in the cannery," officials said.

The variety is described as "bigger, juicier and with a better balance of acid and sugar than the normal pineapple."

Excited Mother Chokes On Gum At League Game

SAN PEDRO (AP) — A San Pedro mother — apparently excited when her son hit a home run in a Little League baseball game—swallowed her chewing gum and choked to death Tuesday, police said.

Mrs. Dolores F. Stanford, 37, was reported dead on arrival at a nearby hospital.

Witnesses at the game said Mrs. Stanford jumped to her feet cheering as her son, Chris, 12, hit the home run. Then she slumped to her seat, they said.

A second son, Bruce, 10, was coaching at third base at the time. Her husband, Kenneth, arrived soon after the accident.

Pike Says Luci Helps With Church Relations

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Episcopal Bishop James A. Pike, who Sunday ignited the controversy over the rebaptism of Luci Baines Johnson, says Miss Johnson has innocently helped better Catholic-Episcopalian relations.

Bishop Pike's comments came yesterday after a member of the Christian Unity Secretariat at Vatican City—in effect—backed Bishop Pike's denunciation of Miss Johnson's rebaptism into the Catholic Church.

In his sermon last Sunday, the Episcopal bishop termed the rebaptism "sacrilegious" and a "direct slap" at the Episcopal Church.

He pointed out that both Episcopal and Catholic churches teach that baptism is "an unrepeatable sacrament." The President's youngest daughter had been baptized in the Episcopal Church as an infant, but was baptized again last Friday, her 18th birthday, when she joined the Catholic Church.

Yesterday, following the Vatican statement, Bishop Pike said he saw good emerging from the furor. A member of The Christian Unity Secretariat said the second baptism was "unfortunate" and unnecessary.

In Washington yesterday the priest who baptized Miss Johnson, the Rev. James Montgomery, disclosed that she had requested rebaptism because she wished to be sure she was meeting the church's requirements.

By requesting the rebaptism, Bishop Pike said, Luci had "innocently made a distinct contribution to the ecumenical movement."

Her case has spotlighted the agreement between the two churches on baptism, he said.

"Her request, contrary to the teachings of her new church, has resulted in a clear reaffirmation that such denigration of Christian baptism should never occur again—and I doubt that it will," Bishop Pike said.

ANTI-WELFARE REBELLION

Solano County supervisors today staged their annual budget-time protest against dictates of the State Department of Social Welfare, which has demanded that the county hire more welfare workers. The board members took all the state agency's rulebooks and orders and made a five-foot tower of them in the supervisors' chambers of the court house in Fairfield. Clockwise from foreground are Board Chairman J. Ellis Godfrey, Fairfield; Robert Bradley, Vallejo; Raymond Church, Rio Vista; Wallace Brazelton, Vacaville, and Colon O. (Coach) Kilby, Vallejo. Taxpayers Building Korea Noodle Plant

By EDWARD J. MOWERY
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — Do you like noodles? You had better develop an appetite for this delicacy because you have invested $9.9 million in a Korean noodle factory.

How about ladies' apparel? Your stock in "Lovable de Mexico, S.A." runs to a tidy $600,000. You've also chipped in $104 million for a Paraguayan cattle ranch, $683,000 to "improve" Chinese fishing, $474 million in Spanish "oak staves," $50 million for Brazil's "stab and development" program and $59.2 million to make India's Rihand Dam a scenic wonder in the state of Uttar Pradesh.

No, you're not dreaming. You're a colossal investor and your market ventures follow an amazingly simple pattern. Your "brokers" are the State Department and Congress. The diplomats ferret out the global opportunities. And Congress bankrolls the schemes . . . with your tax dollars.

During debate on the foreign aid issue this year congressional opponents in both parties—defying the White House—insisted that we call the whole thing off.

It won't happen, but the 1965 tab will level off at around $3.2 billion. Since 1945, Americans have poured $130 billion into the treasuries of 100 countries around the world.

Congressional fiscal hawks fighting more aid aren't without weapons. And they cite a 113-page opus titled, "Status of Loan Agreements," as Exhibit No. 1 in the gathering storm to "cut bait."

The "status" report of the Agency for International Development (A.I.D.) should be "must" reading for America's foreign aid "investors." But it's not for those allergic to monumental statistics.

A tabular summary explains that of 1,135 loan agreements for $13.2 billion in force (Jan. 1), disbursements total $9.3 billion, of which $8.1 billion are still "outstanding." Loans are repayable in dollars or local currency.

The loans, starting with $141 million to Argentina and ending with $29.9 million to Portugal (including the "People to People Foundation"), cover every facet of what has been termed "dollar diplomacy."

"Feasibility studies" pepper the report and run into the millions. So does "commodity assistance." A sampling of the items goes like this:

A.I.D. subsidized locomotives in Yugoslavia and India ($26.7 million), a Liberian sawmill ($190,000), jet and airport facilities in Ethiopia ($23.4 million) and Pakistan ($3 million) and "earthquake construction in Chile" ($100 million).

If American A.I.D. investors could get discounts on products turned out by the factories they subsidize around the world, they'd save money on sugar, glass, cement, rubber, nylon, shoes, autos, paper, cellophane, cotton textiles, steel, tools, rags, aluminum and tin.

Glenwood Aide Resigns Post

Hansen, who is moving to Wilmington, Del., will be succeeded by the association's vice president, Henry Van Galen.

Next meeting of the association will be on Aug. 3.

Snakes Invading New York City

NEW YORK (AP) — The Bronx Zoo is getting more calls this summer than in the past from people who have found snakes in the metropolitan area — and the weather is believed responsible.

Dr. Herndon G. Dowling, the zoo's curator of reptiles, thinks that the drought is driving the snakes from the woods and hills into the more populated areas in search of water and food — the frogs, rats and mice which also are moving toward water.

Of the approximately 25 varieties of snakes in the area, only the rattlesnake and copperhead are poisonous, Dowling said, and "we have heard of no one being bitten by either snake."

Disney Film Set At Center

Walt Disney's "Davy Crockett-King of the Wild Frontier" will be shown at 11 a.m. tomorrow at the San Rafael Recreation Center, 37 Union Street.

The showing, one of three Disney films scheduled this summer by the city recreation department, will also feature cartoons.

Others in the series will be "Alice in Wonderland" July 22 and "Treasure Island" Aug. 5.

Dirty Sweatshirt Wearers Fined

SANTA CRUZ (UPI) — Two men were fined $29 each today in Municipal Court here for wearing sweatshirts with obscene markings.

Gary E. Muertz, 20, San Francisco, and Patrick H. VanRyswyk, 22, Hayward, were arrested Sunday at the Santa Cruz beach on charge of outraging public decency.

Police said the markings on the sweatshirts could be recognized as obscene by "most adults and 99 per cent of all minors."

NOVATO

out of this year's budget allotment is reconstruction of the Diablo and DeLong avenues intersection, budgeted $115,200.

Other jobs in the program are scheduled for work this year but will be paid for out of carryover funds from previous budgets.

Councilmen also reluctantly agreed to budget $21,185 for operation of the city swimming pool at Novato High School, though they lacked definite figures on the cost of the pool's operation in the past year.

Park and Recreation Director Edward Adams told the council he was still working with the Novato Unified School District to get the figures.

With councilman Lucille Cannon and William Jack Adams voting "no," the council eliminated a $1,700 "patrolster" from the police budget.

It agreed to pay policemen 10 cents per mile to use their own cars going to court and the practice range.

An assistant planning director was eliminated from the budget, but a fulltime engineering aide and two park maintenance men were added.

The council added $700 for the spring cleanup campaign next year. It also agreed to have the summer recreation program budget submitted in February hereafter.

Fire Hits Town In Mother Lode

AUBURN (AP) — A three-alarm fire destroyed four historic frame buildings in this Mother Lode community early today and authorities are investigating the possibility of arson.

Firemen said the $30,000 blaze apparently started near an oil drum behind one of the buildings.

The frame structures, built in the 1880s, included an antique shop, a gift shop and two vacant buildings. They are owned by Tom James of Kings Beach at Lake Tahoe.

Firemen were hindered by explosions of paint cans and pistol and shotgun ammunition in the antique shop. A high voltage line burned and fell among the firemen but no one was reported injured.

Morals Offense Suspect Returned

A 57-year-old Lagunitas man charged with felony lewd and lascivious behavior with a small girl yesterday was returned to Marin County from Lakeview, Ore., by sheriff's officers.

Edward Stephan Fitzgerald of Charles Lane allegedly committed the acts with the 7-year-old girl over a period of about three weeks in May.

Fitzgerald was held in county jail in lieu of $2,750 bail.

Session Canceled

A meeting scheduled for last night of the Fairfax Park and Recreation Commission was cancelled because of lack of a quorum. Next meeting scheduled is Aug. 3.

Sausalitan Found Dead With Gun

Charles A. R. Wardwell, 69, of Sausalito was found dead in a passageway near a storeroom today at the Cote d'Azur Apartments in Sausalito, apparently a suicide victim.

Asst. County Coroner William C. Bradley said, Wardwell, a retired economist who lived at the Cote d'Azur, had apparently gone to the storeroom, put down a mat for his head, covered himself with a blanket, the shot himself in the mouth with a Colt .380 automatic. The weapon was found in his hands.

Mrs. Renie Shields, manager of the luxury apartments at 100 South Street, found Wardell's body at about 8:30 a.m. today when she went to clean out an empty storeroom.

The body was taken to Russell and Gooch Mortuary, Mill will be arranged by Estrallita Mortuary, San Francisco.

A note, dated July 5, was found in Wardwell's apartment, addressed to his daughter, Alice Gerda Moore of Daly City. The note said he had been despondent over his health.

Wardell had been an economist 45 years, retiring from the U. S. Department of Commerce in Washington, D. C., as director of business analysis. He had lived in Sausalito about 18 months.

Born in New Hampshire, he was an Army veteran of World War I.

Minority Textbook Bill Signed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown signed a bill today requiring textbooks used in California schools to correctly portray the role of Negroes and other minority groups in the history of the state and nation.

The governor also signed bills to:

Add the state treasurer and a public member to the District Securities Commission.

Create the District Securities Investigation Law outlining procedures which all districts, except school districts, must follow to obtain state approval to issue bonds.

Authorize municipal utility districts selling electrical power to finance capital improvements through revenue bonds.

Grove Sought As Park Area

VISALIA (UPI) — A state parks official said yesterday the famous Dillon Wood grove of giant Sequoias may be incorporated into the state park system.

David Hayes, architect for the Department of Beaches and Parks, told Tulare County planning officials his agency hopes to start feasibility studies soon on the possibility of putting the 1,500-acre grove in the park system.

Conservationists describe the stand of Sequoias as one of the finest in the south-central Sierra Nevada. The grove is on private land south of Sequoia National Park at an elevation of about 6,000 feet.

Building Set For Stanford

MENLO PARK (AP) — Stanford Research Institute said today work will start this month on its $4.25 million building — largest ever erected by the institute.

The three-story building will front on Ravenswood Avenue, just west of the institute's headquarters building.

Designed for maximum flexibility to accommodate any of the institute's research groups, it will be ready for occupancy in January, 1967.

It will, at first, house about 500 employees from three divisions — systems sciences, electronic and radio sciences, and engineering sciences and industrial development.

tion by thinking that they know more about it than we do."

Democrat Unruh replied that the Assembly had become "by far the best equipped house of any house of the legislature in the country to meet complicated and sophisticated problems."

Brown said he'd have to ask the legislature to raise taxes next year, and he conceded the request will pose political problems.

The Senate closed shop at 3:27 p.m. and the Assembly at 5:22 p.m., ending six months of lawmaking marked by feuding and fussing.

Unable to agree during the general session, the lawmakers had been brought back to provide enough taxes to finance the governor's budget.

Like Brown, Unruh said that the lawmakers had done a good job.

Some of their big actions included:

Approval of $163 million in new taxes, including the $105 million plan passed by the special session and some $58 million more in a temporary gas tax boost for rebuilding Northern California roads damaged by floods. It is scheduled to end Dec. 31.

Adoption of a record $4.18 billion budget that, among other things, clears the way for new educational programs aimed at slum children and poor readers, and provides pay raises for university and college professors and other state employees.

Passage of a new smog control car for autos, that also provides for doubling the size of the Highway Patrol, to be financed by a $60 million boost in vehicle registration fees over the next three years.

There was, however, no agreement on the overriding issue of Senate reapportionment and it looks like a federal court will take over the job beginning in August.

Plea Reduces Assault Charge

John Valentine Harrell, 33, scheduled for jury trial today on a charge of felony assault on a Lucas Valley School teacher, instead pleaded guilty yesterday to misdemeanor battery.

Judgment for the lesser and included offense was scheduled in Marin Superior Court for July 26.

Harrell, of Tahoe City, broke into the home of an acquaintance, Ann Royle, 23, at 195 San Carlos Avenue, Sausalito, last May 18, and kicked her in the face.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Schulte Dies At 93; Rites Held

Ada Adams Schulte, 93, of 81 Fernhill Avenue, Ross, died in her home yesterday after long illness.

A native of San Francisco, Mrs. Schulte had lived in Marin County 40 years. Her late husband, Gustavus Schulte, worked with the post office in San Francisco.

Mrs. Schulte claimed to be a direct descendent of pilgrims who landed at Plymouth Rock in the 17th century, and of the Adams family which produced two presidents.

She is survived by her daughter, Gladys Smith of the same address in Ross, three grandchildren, and nine great-grandchildren.

Private funeral was held today at Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo. Burial was in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

LENORE IRISH

Funeral for Mrs. Lenore Irish, Mill Valley school teacher killed Sunday night in an automobile crash near Grass Valley, will be at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow, at Russell and Gooch Mortuary, Mill Valley. Burial will be private in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

Woman In Death Plunge At Capitol

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — A woman fell or jumped 150 feet to her death today in the rotunda of the Kansas capitol building.

She was identified by items in her purse and by officials of the Veterans Administration Hospital as Anna Eileen Short McLain, 43, of Memphis, Tenn.

Payless Payday

MANILA (AP)—The Philippine government's 350,000 employees had a payless payday today because Congress still hadn't passed the budget for the new fiscal year. The auditor general refused to issue paychecks.

RUSTIC CENTER—This is an architect's conception of the $2.5 million shopping center planned for 11 acres owned by Sunny Hills in San Anselmo. City planning commissioners got their first look at the plans last night. They call for 19 business outlets in 80,000 square feet of sales space. Sunny Hills officials promise the center will maintain the rural setting which now surrounds the site.

Sanitary District Trims Tax A Third

Directors of the Tiburon Sanitary District last night approved a budget which is expected to mean an 18.5-cent drop in the tax rate.

The budget of $52,500 is expected to mean that the present rate of 58.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation will drop to 40 cents with the rise in assessed valuation.

Total budget for the fiscal year just ended was $49,700, district accountant George Bitter of Tiburon reported.

The budget total is made up of $24,400 for salaries; $15,250, maintenance, supplies, utilities and $12,850 for truck costs, accounting, telephones and miscellaneous.

The cost figure will drop about $16,000 as the City of Belvedere is expected to pay that amount during the year under a contract for having its sewage treated in the district plant.

Sanitary district directors agreed to negotiate with the Northwestern Pacific Railroad for purchase of about 200 feet of land which would be the width of the district plant and extend directly back from the rear of the plant on the east side of Mar West Street.

Mystery Turns Out To Be 200-Year-Old Indian Bones

A skeleton found Monday beside Lone Tree Creek north of Muir Beach was that of an Indian, probably killed 200 years ago, Asst. County Coroner William C. Bradley decided last night.

Earlier the bones had been estimated to have lain in the secluded spot only five to 10 years.

Bradley said he consulted with Dr. John H. Manwaring, San Rafael pathologist, and concluded the light weight and "honeycombed" appearance of the bones dated them about two centuries.

He said further evidence was a tooth with flat top, typical of Indians whose molars became quickly worn with extensive chewing. Too, Bradley said, there was evidence of dark dirt piled mound-like for a grave, along with presence of sea shells in Indian burying tradition.

Bradley said Dr. Manwaring said a cleft in the skeleton's skull could easily have been from deterioration, rather than a blow on the head.

A San Francisco fisherman, David Michael Sherard, discovered the skeleton on the creek bank and returned home with several pieces of bone. Bradley recovered the bones, which he said are being turned over to Dr. Albert E. Elsasser, doing post-graduate research in archaeology at University of California, Berkeley.

He added that Dr. Elassen probably will recover the remainder of the skeleton, too, and make a brief analyas report to the coroner's office in about three weeks.

Girl Pilots Forced Out Of Air Race

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) Three planes were forced to turn back today before reaching the finish line of the annual Powder Puff Derby cross-country air race for women pilots.

But 72 other planes and their distaff crews arrived before the noon deadline to complete the course from El Cajon, Calif., to Chattanooga.

Officials were using a computer to figure point standings in the handicap race on a complicated formula involving actual flying time and the rated ability of the planes themselves.

Oil trouble caused pilot Gini Richardson of Yakima, Wash. and co-pilot Ilovene Potter of Seattle to land at Athens, Ga.

Turned back because of turbulent weather conditions between here and Savannah — the last leg of the flight — were Pat Zoller McEwen of Wichita, Kan., and Betty Lou Henry of Odessa, Tex. Both, officials said, landed "somewhere in Georgia."

A fourth plane was knocked out of the race yesterday by a forced landing in Georgia when it ran out of fuel. The crew of that plane included Mrs. Virginia Wegener of West Covina, Calif., the pilot, and the co-pilot, Mrs. Harryette Barker of La Puente, Calif.

Smog-Free Buses Due

Beginning tomorrow, at least a few Marin County commuters may breathe deeply during their morning run to San Francisco.

Greyhound Bus Lines is replacing 20 of its buses now in use with "new look, blower ventilated" jobs with passenger capacity increased from 43 to 53.

The first of the smog-free vehicles will go into service tomorrow morning. Others will follow as fast as they are delivered from Detroit, a company spokesman said.

Selma Choir Due In Marin

A choir of high school students from Selma, Ala., travelling on a tour set up by a Bay Area civil rights worker, will sing at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the First Presbyterian Church of San Anselmo, 72 Kensington Road, San Anselmo.

The group, which has sung at the New York World's Fair, was heard by William Bigelow, a student at Pacific School of Religion in Berkeley, while he was taking part in the Selma-to-Montgomery "Freedom March" earlier this year.

(Bigelow this week is recovering from a beating suffered Saturday when five men jumped on him in Madison, Fla., where he is spending the summer as a civil rights worker.)

Novato Golf Club Looted By Juveniles

Burglars, probably juveniles, last night broke into Indian Valley Golf Club on Novato Boulevard, northwest of Novato, making off with $30 in cash and liquor.

Al Leach, club manager who discovered the burglary when he opened about 7:30 a.m. today, said entry was by breaking a south window. He believed juveniles were involved because of small size of the window.

Nothing was taken from the club's golf shop, he added.

Nothing was missing, officers said.

San Anselmo Planners Get Look At Center

The San Anselmo Planning Commission last night postponed action on plans for a $2.5 million shopping center on the 11-acre Sunny Hills property until a new map, including plans for widening Sir Francis Drake and Sonoma boulevards, could be drawn up.

Developers Grubb and Ellis of Oakland are expected to submit revised plans at the commission's next meeting, set for 8 p.m. July 19 at city hall.

Layout of the rustic-design center was made by Hammarberg and Herman, East Bay architects. Arntz Brothers of San Francisco is slated to build it.

The developers told commissioners the center will include a Safeway supermarket, Long's Drug Store, a bank, restaurant and 15 other stores, expected to fill 80,000 square feet of retail space.

It will be leased from Sunny Hills, and will maintain the site's rural setting, commissioners were assured by Mrs. Robert Kettenbach, former Sunny Hills president.

Site development she said is scheduled to start in September. The center will open in the spring if all goes according to plan.

Commissioners agreed to let Sunny Hills retain title to a proposed access road off Sonoma Boulevard on the condition it would later be dedicated to the city. City Engineer Charles R. Leitzell had urged that it be dedicated immediately.

The city plans to require widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard to provide right and left turn lanes at its intersection with Bella Vista Avenue. The developers have proposed a traffic light there.

No provision has been included in the plans for on-street parking on either side of Drake Boulevard in front of the center.

Driver Fined $220

Alexander Francis Hernandez, 33, San Francisco, was fined $220 yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving. He was arrested June 27 on Highway 101 by California Highway Patrol.

Richardson Bay Plan Abandoned

The Richardson Bay Master Plan was abandoned last night by the Marin County Planning Commission in favor of a plan offered by Bothin Real Estate Co.

Involved are some 100 acres of land and water just west of Richardson Bay Bridge on the south side of the bay. The proposed marina development was given a go-ahead by the county with approval of the Mill Valley Planning Commission, which participated in the joint meeting.

The Bothin development envisions "a cultural-social pleasure garden . . . containing entertainment pavillions, theaters, exhibition galleries, music shells, dance platforms, floating artisans' studios, gourmet food kiosks, playgrounds, fountains, and garden walks," according to Alton S. Lee of the architectural firm of Spencer, Lee and Busse.

Included in the commercial-recreation project would be 300 apartments—low-rise and high-rise but with no single-family units—and berthing facilities for some 400 boats.

The Bothin plan, as approved by the planners, envisions an "undulating" bulkhead extending beyond the bulkhead line established in application for Army Engineers dredging of Richardson Bay.

The new plan also would change the land use and would eliminate a precise inter-city road between Miill Valley and Sausalito.

If the amended plan is approved by the board of supervisors, the Bothin firm would be required to work out details and submit precise plans for such problems as land use, zoning, flood control, parking facilities, and public access.

Completion of the plan requires abandonment of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way which cuts across the southern portion of the property. "We are assuming that the railroad will abandon the line," said Lee.

The Mill Valley Planning Commission was invited to participate in the meeting since a portion of the land involved is likely to be annexed by Mill Valley. The annexation is now under litigation.

County planning commissioner Eugene R. Trombley and Mill Valley commissioner Richard J. Hiatt were absent.

Acceptance of the Bothin plan was unanimous. It was agreed that the planners would set a time and date for consideration of planned community zoning for the project at their next regular meeting on July 19. A special meeting of the commission was set for Monday at 8 p.m. to discuss priority of items pending.

Construction Continuing In Marin

Construction in Marin County was virtually unaffected by labor disputes today despite strikes throughout the Bay Area involving painters, cement masons, machinists, teamsters, plumbers, and sheet metal workers.

Only the painters and cement masons were officially on strike in Marin County, although neither has set up picket lines. Union spokesmen said that about 35 Marin firms have signed interim agreements with Cement Masons Local 355 and more than 20 have signed with Painters Local 83.

N.C. Green, business representative of the Marin cement masons, was in negotiation with employers in San Francisco today and unavailable for comment. No negotiations have been set by the painters.

Elsewhere in the Bay Area, picketing by cement masons has shut down millions of dollars worth of projects under construction, including the San Francisco Golden Gateway. The union was also picketing at Oroville Dam and Several other power projects in Northern California.

Family Escapes In Tahoe Crash

TAHOE VALLEY (UPI) — A light plane owned by Brown's Ambulance Service of Santa Rosa, crashed north of the Tahoe Valley Airport yesterday. The pilot, Fred Brown, his wife and two children suffered minor cuts and bruises.

Federal Aviation Agency authorities said Brown was apparently trying to land when the aircraft ran out of gas, forcing him to crash land just short of the runway, in the Truckee River.

Not definite yet?

Stubblebine May Take Health Post

Dr. James M. Stubblebine of 53 South Knoll Road, Mill Valley, will soon take over the job as director of San Francisco community mental health services, city health director Dr. Ellis Sox said yesterday.

His wife, however, said the matter is "not that definite" at this point. Her husband, who was conferring with San Francisco officials, was not available today for comment.

Sox said Dr. Stubblebine, former psychiatric director of Ross General Hospital and consultant to Marin Juvenile Hall, plans to take over the job as soon as he can arrange for transfer of patients from his private practice in Kentfield.

Dr. Stubblebine also is a member of the Tamalpais High School District board.

He was first choice of an interviewing board for the San Francisco position last week. The post has been vacant since Dr. Robert Kimmich resigned last July to become state mental health director in Michigan.

Sea Lion Killer Reward Offered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defenders of Wildlife Inc., announced today a $1,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of California sea lion killers.

The reward was offered by the conservationist organization in connection with the slaying of more than 100 sea lions and rarer amphibious mammals protected on Santa Barbara Island, part of the Channel Islands National Monument.

The slain animals were discovered last month. It appeared they had been shot by persons who circled the island in a boat.

Under California law, a person wh harms a sea lion without cause is subject to a $500 fine.

$55,396 Corte Madera Street Job Contracts Awarded By Council

Contracts for $55,396.65 in street work were awarded by the Corte Madera Town Council last night to E. A. Forde Co. of Corte Madera.

Forde was lowest of four bidders at $19,697.25 on repaving Corte Madera Avenue between Tamalpais Avenue and the Mill Valley city line. It was also lowest of four, at $35,699.40, on a series of other street projects. These include:

Widening, repaving and installing curb on the north side in the 100 block of Buena Vista Avenue, new curb on west side of the Madera Avenue center island between Mohawk Avenue and Monoma Drive; repaving Manzanita Avenue from Sausalito Street to Presidio Avenue; culverting extension on south side of Paradise Drive at San Clemente Creek.

Also, repaving Paradise Drive in front of the Campbell-Bishop Building; reconstructing Sausalito Street with curb and gutter; repaving and curbing center island on Paradise Drive between the Northwestern Pacific Railroad tracks and El Camino Drive; curbs on Meadowsweet Drive from Sausalito Street to the town limits.

Also, reconstruction of Conow Street, with curbs, and of Sanford Avenue with curb and gutter; sidewalk and stairs from Walnut to Pixley avenues; flasher warning signals and signs on Tamalpais Drive; curbs and gutters on Stetson Avenue; guard rails along Redwood Avenue and Summit Lane; eliminating gutter pond at Chickasaw Court and Tamal Vista Boulevard; concrete gutters at various locations on Redwood Avenue and Summit Lane; curbs around islands on Madera Boulevard and Lakeside Drive between Mohawk Avenue and Tamalpais Drive.

The Corte Madera Town Council also:

1. Received a letter from Robert A. J. Clark, developer of the Park Madera Shopping Center, withdrawing his application for a vehicle exit through the town park.
2. Denied a request for a "not a through street" sign at upper Sausalito Street and Menke Lane, in an area outside the town's street maintenance system.
3. Referred estimates from Pacific Gas and Electric Co. on street lighting on Paradise Drive to the planning commission.
4. Directed the town staff to report at the next meeting on a proposal to require a cash bond for repair of any damage to upper Sausalito Street by construction equipment.
5. Suggested applicants for formation of a special assessment district for dredging, bulkheads and maintenance of San Clemente Creek get advice on cost of the project before forming the district.
6. Referred a request for four-way stop signs at Baltimore Avenue and Pepper Street to Police Chief Frank L. Nelson.
7. Referred Nelson's recommendation that parking be prohibited on the west side of Sausalito Street between Tamalpais Drive and Buena Vista Avenue to the council's police and fire committee.
8. Approved payment of $335 for legal expenses incurred from March through June.
9. Referred to Stetson, as fire chief, a request from Richard M. Becker of 9 Buena Vista Avenue for abatement of a fire hazard created by weeds in a vacant lot next to his home.
10. Set for 7:30 p.m. July 22 discussion of establishment of a county dump on an 100-acre parcel in the northeastern section of the town, east of Highway 101.

Councilman Norman R. Barnett was absent.

Boys Are Warned Over B-B Guns

Two 12-year-old San Rafael boys were warned by police yesterday after pellets from their BB gun richocheted through a window of the Mary A. Weaver home at 20 Valencia Street, San Rafael.

Police decided not to confiscate the gun after one of the boys' mothers promised to withhold it from her son until they were in the mountains where he could shoot it.

Saw Stolen

Father Says He'll Relent On Disowning

DETROIT (UPI) — A father who publicly disowned his son for throwing a wild beer party said today he will be glad to take the boy back after he gets out of jail.

Albert J. Scobie, 44, of suburban Southgate, said he was "pleased with my son—for the first time in two years" after hearing that the youth had apologized for the party Saturday night.

"As his father, I have no other desire than to help straighten the boy out. The things I've heard since he's been in jail make it sound like the experience has done him a lot of good," said Scobie.

The son, Albert P. (Buddy) Scobie, 18, was jailed Sunday when his father said he would not pay "five cents" of a $100 fine resulting from the bottle-throwing party at which four policemen were injured in an attempt to quiet the 60 rock 'n' rolling youngsters.

City Aides Get Pay Increases

San Rafael's city manager received a $200 per month pay raise and all appointive city department heads $50 per month increase by action of the city council last night.

The raises were voted unanimously, although City Councilman Charles W. Aby objected that the public works department should be placed under the city manager to justify increasing his salary.

The increase brings City Mgr. Dan E. Anderson's pay to $18,000 per year, the highest of any city administrative officer in Marin County.

Pay of Norris M. Rawles, director of public works, was increased to $14,400 per year; City Engineer Ely Cailouette, to $12,000; Finance Director Orrin Wendling, to $11,100; Planning Director George H. Rodgers, to $11,400; Fire Chief Vance Trivett, to 12,000; Parks and Recreation Director Joseph D. Rodota, to $10,800, and Chief Building Inspector Jack Coates, to $10,800.

Councilmen commented that the raise to Rodota brought his pay virtually to the ceiling for a parks and recreation director in a city of the size of San Rafael.

When pay of the city manager was brought up during a salary discussion preceding the regular council meeting, Aby recalled that when the city mangership was created, all departments were placed under the manager. Subsequently, the public works department was made autonomous by 3-2 vote of the council (voting for the change were Councilmen Fred Jensen, L. H. Bud Baar and the late Joseph Sauer).

Baar argued that the public works department has operated more efficiently since being removed from the city manager's control. Aby differed on this, and pointed out that the manager does not have administrative control over "the biggest spending department in the city."

Mayor C. Paul Bettini and Councilman Harry A. Barbier both said they thought giving more authority to the manager by restoring the public works department to his control was worth study.

Councilmen turned thumbs down on a suggestion by Mayor Bettini that perhaps Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa should be given an additional title and pay, to increase the differential between his pay and that of the assistant chief.

Raises for the police department approved last week brought Asst. Chief Joseph Brusatori's salary to $899 per month — just $1 below Chiesa's. Pay of the police chief is fixed for his term of office, since he is elected.

Councilman Aby called any additional title and pay for the police subterfuge. "He ran for office knowing the salary was fixed for four years," said Aby. Other councilmen agreed.

Senate Trips Proposal Gains

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators may soon be making more free trips home.

The Senate Appropriations Committee approved yesterday a $190.8 million appropriations bill to finance the operation of Congress in the present fiscal year.

The measure would allow senators six expense-paid round trips home a year instead of the present two trips.

Trial Scheduled In Pistol Shooting

Jury trial for Marguita Bullard, 35, charged with the March 5 pistol-shooting of Ruby Hazel Carter following an argument over a man, was scheduled yesterday in Marin Superior Court for Aug. 17.

Electric Cord Kills Worker In Pool

SCOTIA (AP) — Sherman Ray Pritchett, 28, of Freshwater was killed yesterday when an electric cord for a power drill fell into a pool of water in which he was standing.

Prichett was working on the South Scotia Bridge, destroyed in the Christmas weekend floods last year.

Model To Jail In Trespassing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An artists' model who wanted to protest the Viet Nam action with flowers has been sentenced to 30 days in jail for trespassing on Oakland Army Terminal.

Military police arrested her after she defied a warning not to try to pass a second time through the terminal gate.

Miss Colton clutched a bouquet of roses and daisies which she said she wanted to put aboard a vessel bound for Viet Nam.

The expression "quarantine" comes from the Italian word quaranta, meaning 40, which was the number of days set by Italian officials in 1374 to detain travelers suspected of having bubonic plague.

City Council Blocks Transmitter Tower

The San Rafael City Council last night adopted unanimously a resolution aimed at blocking Radio KTIM from erecting a 105-foot frequency modulation transmitter tower near the top of San Rafael Hill.

The city planning commission last week granted a use permit for the tower.

The council, by its action last night, revoked the use permit, ordered the building department not to issue a permit for the tower, and directed the planning commission not to permit subdivision of the property.

The matter was brought up by City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen, who said, "It concerns me because if we go with this one, I think we are going to get two or three such applications." He said Harold Spight of Clear-View Cables has indicated he would apply for a similar permit.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini, incensed at the planning commission, declared: "We turned it down and they go right back to the planning commission and the commission approves it!"

Councilman Charles W. Aby pointed out that the location rejected by the council on appeal from the planning commission was not the same as that for which the commission subsequently granted the use permit.

Councilman Harry A. Barbier said he had no objection to the KTIM tower in the new location, "But I want all the others to hook onto it."

"Than is just what they don't plan to do," said Andersen.

The council, in rejecting KTIM's earlier application, suggested that all transmitters atop the hill be grouped with one or two towers on city-owned property which is so located that view of the towers from below is screened by trees. Councilmen objected to a "forest of poles" arising on the hilltop.

Rogers said that at 8:30 a.m. on the day after that turndown, Hugh Turner, president of KTIM, filed application for the use permit at the new location. This is on the same privately owned land where the tower was first to be placed, but at greater distance from the Easter cross atop the hill.

"What can we do to legally stop this?" asked Mayor Bettini.

City Atty. David Menary Jr. proposed the three-pronged resolution. Its adoption was moved by Councilman Aby.

Mixed Couple Being Harassed

EAST MEADOW, N.Y. (AP) — "It makes me mad," said Tamara Wright. "We're definitely not going to move."

"I am going to be here when all of these others move," said her husband, Vincent Wright.

The interracial couple had two windows of their house broken Monday night when someone lighted firecrackers taped to the windows.

Mrs. Wright, 24, who is white, and her husband, a 31-year-old junior high school teacher who is Negro, said today that the incident was part of a continuing pattern of harassment which has grown more serious in recent days.

Untreated Burn Victim Survives

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A young Mexican mother who spent two months without medical care for burns over two-third of her body was reported in serious but not critical condition today.

A nursing supervisor at White Memorial Hospital said that Mrs. Ramona Franco de Portola was resting comfortably.

Doctors say Mrs. de Portola, 20, has better than a 50-50 chance of recovery. However, they said infection is still a danger and complications, including a kidney ailment, have set in.

The barnacle seeks out a solid object and grips it with a pair of head appendages. The little animal secretes a cement that attaches it permanently, head down, and starts to build a shell.

Two Planners Renamed; Appointment Is Held Up

Carl S. Brown and Thomas R. O'Toole were reappointed to the San Rafael Planning Commission last night, but the city council held up decision on a replacement for Planning Commissioner Charles J. Hendrickson, who resigned with the end of his term June 30.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini set for 7:30 p.m. July 19, preceding the next regular council meeting, a session to interview all applicants for the vacancy.

Only one was mentioned last night—Franklin M. Battat of 62 Lochinvar Road, president of the Loch Lomond Homeowners' Assn. But Bettini said others have expressed interest also.

A half dozen Loch Lomond residents and one from Terra Linda arose in the audience to speak on behalf of Battat, a San Francisco exporter who took courses in city planning and urban redevelopment while attending University of California

JFK's Mother Doing Well After Surgery

NEW YORK (AP)— Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy was reported in good condition today following the surgical removal of a small skin tumor at the Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital.

The mother of the late President John F. Kennedy was admitted to the hospital Monday and Dr. John Converse performed minor surgery yesterday to remove a benign skin tumor from her neck.

LBJ Swears In Cabinet Aide

WASHINGTON (AP) —President Johnson, swearing Leroy Collins into another high government post today, confidently predicted that mankind will seize its glowing opportunities "to make life better on this earth for people who cherish freedom and love peace."

Man's knowledge is growing rapidly, not only about the earth, but about outer space, the President said.

Collins, former governor of Florida, took office as undersecretary of commerce. He succeeds Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., who has become chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. Collins for the last year has been director of the Community Relations Service set up under the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Firemen Press Fight For Memorial Plaque

Marinwood Fire Department volunteers are again going to request that the plaque honoring one of their late members be allowed to stay where it is on the firehouse.

The volunteers met last night and requested Acting Chief James Cameron to formally request the Marinwood fire commission to leave the plaque in place. The commission would in turn relay the request to the Marinwood Community Services District board.

The board has a policy against naming fire houses for persons. Board members thought the plaque honoring fireman Thomas J. Sutton would lead residents to believe the building was named in his honor.

This was debated by the board at length June 17 and it was decided not to allow the plaque on the building. When the meeting adjourned, however, the plaque was back on the wall. Some person unknown had restored it during the debate.

Engine On Agenda

Purchase of a fifth fire engine for the Kentfield Fire District will be considered by the district board at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the fire house, according to Chief Kenneth Kamp. The new engine is expected to cost about $13,000, he said.

One third of all traffic accidents happen on weekends.

3:43 p.m., Fairfax—One quarter acre grass fire, cause unknown, at western city limits, Olema Road and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

7:26 p.m., Forest Knolls—Grass fire, started by spark from incinerator, burned small spot on property of J. W. Beck at 228 Montezuma Avenue.

TODAY:

12:37 a.m., San Rafael—Trash burner in stove in kitchen of Mrs. H. N. Mangels home at 301 Highland Avenue overheated and set wall on fire; damage $5,000.

New City Hall Due Carpets In Offices

All offices in San Rafael's new city hall will be carpeted.

The city council last night unanimously approved a $15,500 change order to place carpeting instead of tile flooring in many of the offices and corridors, as detailed by San Rafael Architects Associated.

The council took a dim view, however, of a proposal by the architects that $1,400 be spent to get rid of seepage from the cut bank behind the city hall site, which was found to be greater than expected.

City Engineer Ely Cailouette said he had approved putting soil pipe under the parking lot to carry off the seepage water, but thought the $1,400 cost figure was out of line. The matter was referred to him and Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles, to figure out a cheaper method.

The San Rafael City Council also:

1. Adopted a new Uniform Plumbing Code with amendments suggested by Chief Building Inspector Jack Coates, despite objections by Dan DeLisle, manager of Associated Plumbing Contractors, that Coates had eliminated some other amendments agreed to by a committee of plumbing contractors and building inspectors.
2. Approved changing the name of Minnie Street to Third Street, of which, it will be a partd with the westerly extension of Third Street.
3. Confirmed planning commission approval of a subdivision by Dray and Van Soest on Terrace Avenue with curb along the edge of the present street, although councilmen objected it will create a sub-standard street width. Councilman Aby voted "no."
4. Took under study until the July 19 meeting the proposed joint powers agreement with the county for widening of San Pedro Road from Embarcadero to the city line near the Peacock Gap main entrance. The project, to be done over a five-year period, calls for outlay by city and county of about $2,500,000. The road is about half in and half out of the city.
5. Zoned San Rafael Cayes, previously unclassified, as planned community.
6. Called for bids on a street striper, to be opened at 2 p.m. July 19.
7. Adopted an ordinance banning vehicles from fire trails except by use permit.
8. Set for July 19 hearing on W. Wallace Knox's appeal from planning commission requirement of sidewalks in Dollar View Estates subdivision.
9. Authorized hiring Gerald L. Hudson as yard clerk at $371 per month and Lennard F. Belt as maintenance man at $431, and promotion of Charles M. Ferlatte to street sweeper operator at $500.

Chicago Bombing Baffles Police As To Motive

The explosion occurred at 3:45 a.m. No one was injured.

The blast, caused by a black powder bomb planted in a city refuse container in front of the 10-story Masonite Building at 29 N. Wacker Drive, broke hundreds of windows in the structure and in nearby buildings.

It sent fragments as high as the 20th floor of the Kemper Insurance Building, which houses the Civic Opera House and the Civic Theater, across Wacker Drive.

General Plan Is On Agenda

The Larkspur Planning Commission will hold its first public hearing on the general plan for the city at 8 p.m. tomorrow at city hall.

John David Erickson, the city's consultant on the plan, will present his proposal to the commission.

The second public hearing on the plan will be held at 8 p.m. July 15, when a hearing on the precise plan for the Larkspur Center will also be held.

Cycle Stolen

John A. Biasotti of 75 Woodland Avenue, apt. 5, San Rafael, told police last night that his 1964 Ducati motorcycle had been stolen from its parking place at his apartment house earlier in the evening.

Hospital Tentatively Gets Mental Unit Job

A majority of Marin County supervisors would be glad to let Marin Hospital District run the proposed community mental health center, they told directors of the district at a joint luncheon yesterday.

But the supervisors left a lot of "ifs" attached to their views, and urged that there be more staff work before any final agreement is made on a policy-making level.

Turner, on an inspection tour of a Colorado mental facility, was not at the session.

Bruce said he and Turner had foreseen problems in any plan wherein either county or hospital district gave up control.

As a compromise, he suggested using some of the hospital's present beds for psychiatric in-patients and limiting the planned new building to such things as out-patient and day care.

The hospital, he suggested, could be in charge of in-patient treatment, while the county ran the other phases of the program.

The tentative staff proposal outlined by Bruce drew little enthusiasm from supervisors, hospital directors or doctors.

While there was no vote, every supervisor but Chairman Peter H. Behr said the hospital was better qualified to run all phases of the mental health center. Behr declined to take a stand.

Proposed is a $1,350,000 facility, of which two-thirds would be paid for by state and federal matching funds. The balance, $450,000, would be split three ways: among the county, the hospital district and private contributions.

Dr. Richard S. Hahn warned that splitting the center's work between the main hospital and the new building might jeopardize the chance of getting federal funds. Bruce said this point called for further research.

Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker said he was generally in favor of turning the center's operation over to the hospital district, but hoped the county would have the option of getting back its capital investment if it chose at some future date.

Supervisors voiced concern over the hospital district's proposal that Dr. Clyde Miller, director of the county's community mental health services, be considered for the job of clinical director in the joint facility.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhoffen said Miller should be "our policeman" to assure that the center was conforming to the county's broad policies on mental health.

Dolphin Treated For Diabetes

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — A dolphin at the Sea World oceanarium has been successfully treated for a case of diabetes, Dr. David Kenney, the veterinarian who diagnosed the illness and treated the mammal, announced yesterday.

Kenney said it is the first time on record that any sea animal has contracted diabetes, a disease that occurs in many humans.

BERKELEY SCHOOLTEACHERS RETURN TO WOODSHEDDING

BERKELEY (AP) — Hand spankings of grammar school pupils have been authorized by the Berkeley School Board to prevent what a member termed "Little Caesars."

The board voted last night to permit principals, deans and teachers to spank "as promptly as possible after the offense, to associate the punishment with the specific need for control."

Dr. Howard Levenson is president of the Marin Optometric Society and Dr. Richard Neumaier is president-elect.

Balmer Given $750 Raise, Told To Move Into City

City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer was granted a $750 a year raise at 12:16 a.m. today by the Mill Valley City Council.

"We trust this will make him less likely to leave," said Mayor Michael Wornum. Later, he added, to Balmer, "We expect you to be living within the city boundary."

Balmer, who now lives in Homestead Valley, thanked the council and said that within one month he expected to move into the city into a home now being built.

Balmer's salary, of $15,250 per year, was raised to $16,000. The motion, by Councilman Joseph E. Sheeks, sets this as the pay for fiscal 1966. However, Mayor Wornum said city policy is that we look at salaries every six months.

Balmer began work for the city in January, 1964, at $12,500, was raised to $14,250 last July, and to $15,250 in January of this year.

"Mr. Balmer has done an outstanding job. I think we should show this in tangible form," said the mayor. The vote was unanimous.

Mill Valley Adopts Budget But Seeks Tax Rate Trims

Fiscal 1966 budget of $2,280,534 was adopted last night by the Mill Valley City Council, after both council and audience discussed at some length how it could be trimmed.

Several people in the audience, in what appeared to be a "lobby," asked if the budget might be lowered by eliminating the newly created job of park and recreation director.

Councilmen William M. Secor asked for 10 to 20 cents off the expected tax rate of $2 per $100 assessed valuation.

After the budget's adoption, Mayor Michael Wornum requested City Mgr. Bert Balmer to provide facts on what could be cut out to lower the tax rate to $1.90 or $1.80. The predicted tax rate now stands at $2.30.

Last year's total budget was $1,616,291.

The budget, said Balmer, includes a two and one-half per cent across-the-board pay increase for the city's 65 employees, plus adjustments, insurance and fringe benefits. A salary resolution is to be acted upon later by the council.

Manuel Gomez told the council that, if the city is strapped for money, it can live one year without a park director, to save $10,000.

One citizen suggested the Mill Valley Youth Council direct youth recreation activities at the new community center. Martin Long said it would be "more practical" to hire one more policeman than a recreation director. "Police asked for six men and got one," he said.

A woman in the audience suggested a teacher be hired for center work instead of a director.

All councilmen except William M. Secor argued for a professional man for park and recreation. They were backed by Jerome C. Hauke, park and professional commissioner, who said the city could stand more police but also needs the director.

Wornum commented that the council has promised that if and when the tidelands-Tamalpais High School Annexation goes through, the police force will be bolstered.

The Mill Valley City Council Also:

1. Accepted a low bid of $19,486 from A. and J. Shooter Inc., San Rafael, for landscaping the new library.
2. Introduced an ordinance to rezone landlocked creek lots at rear of Miller Avenue, excepting two city-owned lots, from single family to multiple.
3. Adopted ordinances to annex the 127-acre high school-tidelands area and the 137-acre Alto Bowl area.
4. Rejected the $500 offer from David Bennett Jr. of 226 Rose Avenue to buy a city-owned lot near his home, and instructed Balmer to negotiate a purchase price with Bennett subject to council approval.
5. Adopted Balmer's statement of policy on review of employees' salaries every six months and stipulating what cities Mill Valley will be compared with.
6. Reappointed Benjamin Draper and Leslie Hood to the library board, Draper's term to end after dedication of the new library.
7. Set Aug. 16 for hearing to annex Alto Corridor No. 1.
8. Heard that Balmer will review a proposed ordinance to grant a community television franchise.

Selma Demonstrators Gain Court Victory

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge Daniel H. Thomas ordered Dallas County and Selma city officials today to dismiss charges, refund any fines or bonds and notify the court that the action has been taken in cases against 74 persons arrested in racial demonstrations at Selma.

The 74 were arrested between July 6 and 9, 1964 during Negro voter registration demonstrations.

Strike Ties Up U.S. Flag Ships

NEW YORK (AP)—Thousands of summer vacationers, bound for Europe or just arrived in America, swarmed over Manhattan piers today as foreign liners came and went. But most U.S. vessels lay dead in the water, strikebound.

Vessels of France, Britain, Holland, Germany docked or embarked.

Wharves serving various U.S. ships, including the superliner United States, were mostly empty, except for a few pickets, and with sailing schedules canceled or in doubt.

While serving as president, George Washington did not live in Washington.

Development Aide Post Gets Approval

The Marin County Board of Supervisors, reacting vigorously against a suggestion by the Marin Council for Civic Affairs, yesterday approved a job description for the new post of "assistant county administrator for business development" at $1,100 a month.

In earlier discussion, the board had agreed on a salary of $950 a month, but County Administrator Alan Bruce said yesterday this would not be high enough.

The Council for Civic Affairs, in a letter to the board argued the money could be better spent by addition to the salary now paid to the county planning director and "seeking a recognized national authority to fill a new post of director of planning and development."

The council said the director of planning and development "should be a full member of the American Institute of Planners.

"We assume Mr. Dobbs, with his long experience and excellent knowledge of Marin County, will remain, at near his present salary level, as second-in-command," the letter said, referring to County Planning Director B. D. Dobbs.

Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker said he "disagreed wholeheartedly" with the Council for Civic Affairs.

Leydecker said he has been seeking means of developing industry in the county ever since he became a supervisor, but the attempts to "water down" the effort have made him wonder if more industry is really what the people want.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen agreed and said the new position of assistant administrator would assure that the $105,000 in this year's budget for promotion and development will be better spent.

Supervisors Agree To Quit Holding Meetings At Night

Marin County supervisors yesterday agreed to abandon their experiment with night meetings.

The action was taken at insistance of Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen, who has opposed the experiment from its beginning.

Three months ago, the board initiated a schedule with meetings Monday afternoon and evening every other week. The meetings between were the regular Tuesday, day-long sessions.

Since the change must be made by an ordinance that cannot take effect for 30 days, the night sessions will not end until early next month. The second meeting in August will be on the 10th, a Tuesday, rather than on Monday, Aug. 9.

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer said the night meeting schedule was adopted to make public attendance more convenient, but the public appeared apathetic.

Chairman Peter H. Behr, who suggested the experiment, said he found the night meetings went too late, and it was tough to make decisions near midnight after putting in a full day's work.

The Marin County Board Of Supervisors Also:

1. Awarded sale of $485,000 in San Anselmo School District bonds to Crocker-Citizens National Bank, lowest of six bidders at 3.375 per cent interest. The bids ranged as high as 3.5261 per cent.

2. Accepted the offer of the City of Novato to pay half the cost of the lease on the old county branch library quarters in Novato until a sub-lease can be made. The library is to move to new quarters this month, but the lease on the old building runs until July 1, 1966.

3. Approved creation of the Ramona Avenue permanent road division for road improvement in San Geronimo Valley.

4. Rejected all bids on road concrete after Public Works Director Donald R. Frost reported the purchases amounted to only $4,000 last year, and cost of delivery varies with location of the job.

5. Adopted a new policy setting a flat fee of $500 on formation of assessment districts in addition to the county's regular charges. The policy also spells out the responsibility of developers on improvements that are to be made under an assessment district and turned over to another agency for operation.

6. Approved fund transfer to the fire department for employment of three additional youths in the summer work program.

7. Approved the terminal year agreement with the Marin Council of Community Service for the older adults program. The program is headed by Richard Phenix.

8. Asked for letters of thanks to state legislators who aided in killing the bill that would have established a toll road on Route 37.

9. Tabled the suggestion of Solano County that other counties join it in refusing to hire additional welfare workers in an effort to cut down increases in welfare programs ordered by state and federal legislation.

10. Appointed Dr. William L. Jagger as dental consultant for the Department of Public Social Services (Welfare).

11. Voted to transfer county general fund support to the salary for one of two assistants in the county superintendent of schools office, making that post supported 100 per cent by county funds.

12. Authorized chairman Behr to again write the State Division of Highways urging speed in selection of a route for extension of State Highway 17 from the San Quentin Wye to West Marin.

Four Months Given For Escaping Jail

A four-month term in county jail was given James Albert Sprague, 20, yesterday in Marin Superior Court on his guilty plea to escaping from the jail last May 5.

Sprague was serving time for the Nov. 22 robbery of 881 Club at Fourth Street in San Rafael when he fled from a jailer while being moved to another cell. He was recaptured minutes later. The sentence is concurrent.

Former Israel Premier Dies

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — Former Premier Moshe Sharett died at Hadassah Hospital today. He was 71.

Sharett died after a month-long battle against cancer. His condition had been grave the last two days.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow.

School Integration

NEW IBERIA, La. (AP)— A federal judge has approved the Iberia Parish school board's plan to desegregate all grades this fall. It would be the first complete integration of any school system in the state.

ANGRY 'NO' VOTES

Budget Gains For Tiburon

With consistently angry "no" votes by Councilman Fred C. Hannahs, the Tiburon City Council last night finished putting together all but one item in its tentative budget for fiscal 1966.

By far the most discussion went to the page marked "planning and development services," under which the council agreed to continue using the services of private consultants instead of hiring a fulltime planning director, at least until next April or May.

City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose said he hoped to have the total tentative budget calculated for presentation at the council's next meeting, set for 8 p.m. Monday at Del Mar School.

Only item not yet set, said Rose, is the city planning commission's budget for special projects to be carried out by the consultant firm of Williams, Cooke and Mocine of San Francisco. The commission will be asked to supply a figure, he said.

Councilmen acted on three areas of the budget: planning, general administrative expenses and "unsegregated projects." Changes in each were approved by 4-1 votes.

The planning budget, not including the incomplete item, was set at $24,936, down more than a $1,000 from the proposed figure proposed originally by Rose.

This is based on retaining city building inspector and zoning administrator Leslie Cross, who had earlier submitted his resignation, and giving him a $25 monthly raise, from $750 to $775.

Councilmen agreed they might consider hiring a planning director later. They set aside $1,600 to cover his pay for the last two months of the fiscal year.

The council's decision to continue its present planning arrangement drew hot criticism from Councilman Hannahs and from one of the three spectators, builder Robert Moor.

As councilmen were preparing to vote on the planning budget, Moor complained that he was "horrified. . .that we will still not have a planning director."

He charged that Gross had been called upon to handle planning matters for which Moor argued, Gross was unfit. And he contended that the $400 set aside monthly for the services of Williams, Cook and Mocine was much too small to accomplish anything.

Moor drew agreement from Hannahs when he said he could "not remember a single proposal to the planning commission" in which the firm had given a recommendation.

Hannahs then declared he was "tired of being blackjacked at every budget meeting."

Complaining that the budget was being put together in piecemeal fashion, Hannahs said he was embarrassed by some of Moor's comments, "Because they are accurate."

The council's newest member, Mrs. Jacqueline A. Parnell, said she, too, found the lateness of the budget sessions "rather distressing."

When the main motion was passed, however, Mrs. Parnell voted for it.

Councilman John S. Hoffmire Jr. reaffirmed his view that the city must aim for a 20-cent tax rate, with an eye toward future incorporation of land north of the city.

The general administrative budget was raised from $7,047 to $7,197 with addition of items for insurance and telephone installations. Vote was 4-1.

The "unsegregated" budget, slashed when Rose presuaded councilmen to restore the contingency fund from $3,000 to the original $5,000, since there is no reserve in the entire budget. This brought that page's total to $74,000, including $60,000 for street construction.

Again voting "no," Hannahs said the contingency fund should be higher.

"Maybe by holding the tax rate to 20 cents this year, we are building a 40-cent rate next year," he said.

Tiburon To Rewrite Business License Law

The Tiburon City Council last night agreed that its year-old business licensing ordinance needs so many revisions it would be better to start a new one from scratch.

Councilmen instructed City Atty. Robert I. Conn to draw up a new ordinance, then submit it to the council's business license committee, which will propose a rate schedule.

The decision came after City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose submitted an eight-page memorandum outlining needed changes in the ordinance. Mayor Gordon W. Strawbridge confessed he gave up after reading two pages of the memo.

Conn warned councilmen that, before passing the new ordinance, they should be sure it will please more citizens than the present one does.

By 4-1 vote, councilmen had first reading of another new ordinance, banning parking on the east side of Centro West, between Raccoon Lane and 1880 Centro West. The west side of the street in the same area will be exempted from the present ban against parking within nine feet of the street's center.

Councilman Fred C. Hannahs voted against introducing the ordinance. He opposed a section which bans parking on Juanita Lane.

The Tiburon City Council also:

1. Told Conn to confer with City Manager Rose on wording of an ordinance to control removal of trees on city rights of way. Rose said he needs guidelines to handle individual situations.

2. Instructed Conn to find out whether the city can legally join, or donate to, the Tiburon Landmarks Society.

3. Approved a use permit for the Trestle Glen Sewage Treatment Plant, after plans were changed from a metal Butler building to one of cinder block and stucco.

Robbers Busy In Capital City

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A Sacramento area restaurant executive was robbed of $12,000 in a suburban bank parking lot yesterday and in a downtown bank another robber was caught after demanding $1,000 from a teller.

Officers said James Ferrier Wilson, 61, controller of the Carl Greer Inn, was carrying about $8,500 in cash and $3,500 in checks from his car to a Bank of America branch. Wilson was struck on the head and the robber drove away in Wilson's car.

Glen T. Stockton, 37, was arrested in the janitor's room of the downtown Crocker-Citizens Bank carrying $1,000 in a paper bag.

Woman Guest Doesn't Arrive

Bernard E. Sheppard of 224 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, told police today that a young woman who was supposed to visit him was overdue and missing.

He said Shirley Oldenberger, 24, took a plane from Los Angeles International Airport Monday afternoon after a stay with friends in that area.

He said the woman, whose flight to San Francisco was confirmed, knows no one in this area.

WAR ZONE PUPS — U. S. Army paratrooper today holds puppies "captured" during Allied task force search yesterday of "War Zone D," dense jungle infamous as a hideout for Viet Cong guerrillas. The massive raid by U.S., Australian and Vietnamese troops encountered little life except hostile dogs, and reportedly shot every dog that barked. (AP Wirephoto)

County To Forego U.S. Building Aid

Marin County will forego federal funds for the Hall of Justice addition to the Civic Center to save Frank Lloyd Wright's design for the building.

County supervisors voted 4-1 yesterday to withdraw an application for $750,000 in Hill-Harris Act funds toward housing for the health department.

Asst. County Administrator John P. Barrows told the board by letter that the federal government wanted the health department on grade level, would not allow the light well malls in the center of the building, and wanted space planned for a population projection to 1990.

"In summary," Barrows said, "it seems that the architecture of Frank Lloyd Wright is far too imaginative to receive consideration under the rigid and inflexible regulations of the state and federal bureaucracy. Their world is an arid world with demands and standards that wilt the artistic spirit."

It's not worth it, supervisors agreed.

By dropping the Hill-Harris application, total cost of the Hall of Justice addition will drop from $11,756,000 to $11,393,000, Barrows wrote. This is because space for the health department can be reduced from 24,030 to 14,820 square feet. Another 6,000 square feet will be left unfinished for the present.

Dissenter in the 4-1 vote was Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen. He said he was opposed to locating the health department in the Hall of Justice, and urged that it be near or combined with facilities of Marin General Hospital.

Bacteria Found In More Cities

RIVERSIDE (AP) — State Health officials say the bacteria that caused an intestinal disorder here last month have been found in water supplies of nearby Mira Loma and Galena.

No cases of the disorder, Salmonella typhumirium, have been reported in the two communities but chlorination has been ordered, said Dr. Harold Erickson.

Some 5,200 users have been advised to boil drinking water for the next three days.

Young Democrats Hit Dominican, Viet Acts

The Marin County Young Democrats last night passed resolutions denouncing United States bombing attacks on North Viet Nam and "hypocritical" U.S. intervention in the Dominican Republic.

Meeting at the county courthouse in San Rafael, the Young Democrats urged "that peace talks begin immediately over the Viet Nam war, with representation at the conferences of the United Liberation Front (Viet Cong); we advocate that the United States agree to accept and abide by the consensus of these conferences, and that the final agreement determine the future role of the United States in Viet Nam."

The Dominican resolution stated that "the presence of U.S. forces in the Dominican Republic constitutes a violation of two provision of the United Nations charter and one provision of the charter of the Organization of American States; we feel that the United States action, in view of the specific provisions of the charters it has signed, can be seen as hypocritical."

The resolution on Viet Nam passed with very little opposition, while the one on the Dominican Republic had a healthy majority.

The Young Democrats heard a talk by Robert B. Pence, chairman of the Marin chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union, on the importance of free communication of ideas. Pence also explained the function of the ACLU.

The group will meet again at 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday in Judge Joseph G. Wilson's chambers in the courthouse.

Deadly Vow Kept

SANTA BARBARA (UPI)—Patrick Arnold White, 18, who was graduated with honors in the 1964 class at Carpinteria High School and later declared "I'll kill myself before I would fight" in the Viet Nam war, took his life by hanging, the coroner-sheriff said today.

Kitchen Wall Is Set Afire

A stove trash burner set the kitchen wall afire just after midnight today in the home of Mrs. H. N. Mangel at 301 Highland Avenue, San Rafael, but two fire departments were quickly on hand to put it out.

Because the home straddles the line between the City of San Rafael and unincorporated area, both San Rafael and Marin County Fire Departments sent trucks to the fire.

Firemen estimated damage at $5,000.

Mrs. Mangel said today that she and her daughter, Mrs. Dorothy de LaMontanya were preparing to move out of the house and her daughter was burning papers and boxes when the fire broke out.

The chairman of the Larkspur Park and Recreation Commission is Giulie Boeri.

Motel For Tiburon Approved

The Tiburon Planning Commission last night unanimously approved construction of a 61-unit motel in downtown Tiburon.

Plans of Tiburon designer Louis Britt for the building, which will range in height from one to three stories, were approved after no objection was voiced from an audience of 20 persons at Del Mar School.

The vote was 4-0, with absent commissioner Peter Macgowan noting in a letter that he approved of a motel in Tiburon. Nine letters were read from persons who approved construction of a motel.

The building, between the main fire station and the food store on the east side of Tiburon Boulevard, will include a restaurant and bar.

The project must gain final approval from the city council.

At request of developer Fred G. Zelinsky, commissioners postponed indefinitely consideration of his plans for a hotel on Main Street near Beach Road.

Stephen H. Nash was re-elected chairman of the commission for another year's term; Mrs. Helen Newman was re-elected vice chairman.

Damage Claim Filed

William F. Naber of 536 Cedarberry Lane, Marinwood, filed a claim for $60,000 general and special damages against Marin County today over a collision with a sheriff's car driven by Charles T. Prandi on Lucas Valley Road May 11.

Free Society's Goals Declared

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—The newly-organized Free Society Association is neither a move to establish a third political party nor is it designed to further the political ambitions of former Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, according to a close Goldwater associate.

Denison Kitchel told a news conference yesterday that the society, of which Goldwater is honorary chairman, will embark on an educational crusade "to re-establish the philosophy of individual freedom under limited government as the dominant political force in America."

Kitchel, a Phoenix lawyer and president of the society, said the organization would seek an initial membership of about 450,000 persons and a $2.5 million treasury.

Fiscal Session

Belvedere city councilmen will take their first public look at a $294,900 budget for fiscal 1966 at a meeting at 8 p.m. today at the community hall.

Passers-By Fail To Believe Leap Threat, Man Dies

Two passers-by failed to take Richardson Bay School custodian Melvin Walton seriously early yesterday when he told them he was going to jump off a San Francisco fire escape.

The two men shrugged and walked away, police said. Walton jumped. He was dead on arrival at Central Emergency Hospital.

Walton, 32, had worked for the Sausalito School District since 1954. He lived in San Francisco.

Housewife, Son Are Feared Kidnaped By 2 Ex-Convicts

SPRINGFIELD, Ore. (UPI)—Authorities today issued an all points bulletin for a missing housewife and her son feared kidnaped by two ex-convicts suspected of slaying a deputy sheriff.

"At the present time, we're operating on the assumption that there's a possibility the woman and her son are being held hostages," said a spokesman for the Lane County sheriff's office.

Officers said the woman, Mrs. Shirley Corbin, 33, and her boy, Clinton, 12, disappeared sometime between midnight and 2 a.m., along with the family car, a 1960 blue and white Thunderbird.

Five other children were sleeping in the house at the time Mrs. Corbin and her son disappeared. The home is located about three blocks from the spot where the two ex-convicts abandoned their car shortly before midnight.

Mrs. Corbin's husband was working at a dam construction site in northeastern Oregon at the time.

One of the Corbin children told investigators she awoke this morning and found the lights on in the house, and her mother and brother gone.

The two ex-convicts were also suspected of holding up a Portland bank yesterday afternoon.

A heavily armed posse of about 100 law enforcement officers, using dogs and aircraft, cautiously searched the one-mile square area in the rural residential area for the ex-convicts.

Shortly after daybreak, deputies questioned two men who were found near the car which the suspects had abandoned last night. One of the men had a pistol similar to the type believed carried by the ex-convicts.

But an hour-long investigation showed that the two men were a reporter and a member of the posses.

The ex-convicts were suspected of holding up the Portland bank yesterday afternoon and gunning down the deputy last night on his first night patrol.

Two small planes carrying deputy sheriffs aided the search swooping low over the gently rolling farmland in the heart of western Oregon's lush Willamette Valley. The area includes hay fields, fruit orchards and about two dozen new homes.

The suspects were believed surrounded shortly before midnight after a high speed chase through Springfield, a community of about 20,000 eight miles east of Eugene. The men abandoned their car and fled into a field.

The deputy, Charlton E. Smith, 33, was shot in the back with a 12-gauge shotgun when he stopped the suspect's car on a country road last night.

Authorities tentatively identified the two suspects as Wilfred M. Gray, 31, and Carl C. Boles.

Lagunitas Sets Extra Meeting On Classrooms

Leslie Stone last night was re-elected chairman of the Lagunitas School District Board. W. Michael Scott, a new board member, was named vice chairman.

Another new member, Audrey Miller, was appointed clerk-secretary and William McBride was named trustee-representative to the Marin County Committee on school District organization.

A special meeting of the board was set for 8 p.m. Friday to review bids on portable classrooms from three companies — Modulux, Speedspace, and Mobile Rentals Corp. Bids were submitted for two to six-year lease options or outright purchase.

Also to be discussed Friday is a recommendation to move the school library from its present location in a 200-square-foot building to the administration building, adding approximately 500 square feet of space. The recommendation came from Katherine M. Hansen, Marin County librarian-consultant, and from the library advisory committee of the school district.

Budget hearings and a reassessment of kindergarten policy are scheduled for the board's regular meeting on Aug. 3.

Vocational Education Position For Schools Office Is Approved

Creation of the position of coordinator of vocational education in the county schools office was approved last night by the Marin County Board of Education.

The board voted 5-to-2 for the new office, with salary at $12,000 per year. Clerical help, travel expenses, etc., would raise the cost to $17,860 per year, estimated County Supt. Virgil S. Hollis, who requested the new assistant. He said this would represent about four-tenths of a cent on the county tax rate.

Hollis said superintendents of high school districts in the county had asked for such a coordinator.

Creation of the office, which is still subject to approval by the board of supervisors, was opposed by board member Patrick W. Pollock and Arnold Dolcini Jr. Pollock said it would "create a coordination post when there is nothing to coordinate."

Stanley Friese, assistant superintendent educational services, joined Hollis in urging the new assistant.

Besides voting to create the additional assistant superintendent job, the board filled an assistantship that County Administrator Alan Bruce thought last week would be eliminated.

It approved hiring William G. Vanasen, superintendent of the Mother Lode School District in El Dorado County, as director of business services at $15,000 per year. Bruce last week reported Hollis had agreed to eliminate the position, vacated by resignation of George L. S. Emmons; but Hollis said he had done so and yesterday won transfer of county funds to make up the share of the director's salary previously paid from state funds.

The Marin County Board Of Education Also:

1. Swore in new members Glen E. Robinson and Lee C. Richardson, and reelected members Mrs. Edith Kanoff, Patrick Pollock, and Arnold Dolcini Jr.
2. Unanimously elected James P. Carroll president and Pollock a vice-president.
3. Voted to write Gov. Edmund G. Brown, urging him to sign a bill allowing Sausalito state funds to continue compensatory education in elementary schools.
4. Hired Mrs. Dorcas Johnson as senior stenographer; Judith Parks as senior typist; Dr. Ruth Landis as consultant, "Bay Area experiment," and Mrs. Norma Laden as consultant, instructional material center.
5. Named Robert H. Bradfield to succeed Morrison Gardner as psychologist for special education, at $13,500 per year.
6. Agreed to purchase a $2,231 delivery truck to replace a 1950 Chevrolet.

Burglars Get $300 In Tools

Burglars stole $300 worth of tools from Honda of Marin at 1542 Fourth Street, San Rafael, while the shop was closed between Saturday night and yesterday morning.

San Mateo's Assessments Increase, Too

If it is of any comfort to Marin County taxpayers, they are not alone in facing a whopping increase in property assessments.

San Mate County assessments on secured and unsecured property for the 1965-66 tax year were upped 41.5 per cent over last year, for a total of $1.4 billion.

Marin's assessment jumped 14.9 per cent, for an increase of $51.6 million over last year. As expected, Marin's biggest increase occurred in areas which have been re-evaluated by assessors.

San Mateo County's board of supervisors yesterday voted to have the assessment reviewed by the State Board of Equalization.

BUSINESS FEE UP IN MILL VALLEY

Citizens Lose Battle On License Tariffs, Win Delay Of Sewer Service Charge Idea

By BRUCE COLEMAN

Businessmen fought a hike in Mill Valley licenses and rebelled against a bi-monthly sewer service charge last night before the Mill Valley City Council.

The first fight they lost. The second, they won.

Councilmen voted 4-1, Councilman George E. Wickham voting "no," to introduce an ordinance increasing business license revenues by one-third.

A motion by Councilman Albert E. White to make a service charge instead of a property tax levy for sewer service, died for lack of a second. Mayor Michael Wornum appointed Councilmen William M. Secor and Wickham as a committee to see if the new type charge might be put into new year's budget.

Action on business licenses means that a business with an annual gross of up to $25,000, formerly paying $36 a year, will pay $48. Topmost license tax, for a business grossing above $1,000,000, would be raised from $120 to $132.

City Mgr. Bert Balmer said new business license rates adopted two years ago had produced only a one-tenth increase in revenue instead of the one-third that had been expected.

Merchants objecting to the raises included Mack Staley, owner of Sonapa Delicatessen, who said: "I think the rate is unreasonable. You are trying to push us out of town. . . .

"Eventually, if I ever get the chance, I'll move out."

"The little man is the one who will pick up the big burden of this," said John Finn III.

Other businessmen objecting included Dan Malugani, Philip J. Planert and Donald Lincoln.

Prior to the business license discussion, the sewer use charge was discussed before a crowd of about 100 which was quick to applaud its cause.

The sewer charge was proposed as $1.75 a month for each toilet fixture. It would supplant the present 16 and one-half cents on the property tax rate for sewers. Its advantage is to make a more equitable way of distributing cost of service, Balmer said.

"I will put in a cesspool first before I pay $1.75 a month," stormed Mrs. Louis Ferrario.

"As usual," it's double talk, "said Finn, with Councilman Joseph E. Sheeks immediately replying, "I take exception."

William Feeney, called "sixth councilman," said the charge would add $12 per year to what he pays for sewer service.

Councilman George E. Wickham said, "What we're doing is we're actually increasing our tax rate by another 15 or 16 cents."

"I would much rather see it on the tax roll," said real estate broker Ted Gibson.

Granville L. Beedle, chamber of commerce manager, said he now pays $9 but would pay $21 per year. He said he felt improper notice had been given the public.

Wickham said it was not discussed in budget sessions.

"You won't let us have any more police or fire but we're spending the money on other things," said Finn. "Our administratives ide is fantastic. We're getting more chiefs and no Indians."

Applause followed.

"I have the answer in one word," retorted Sheeks, "Baloney!"

Reed Schools Tax Rate Cut By 44 Cents

A budget of $1,173,060, which will mean a 44-cent tax rate reduction, was approved last night by trustees of Reed Union District.

Last year's total rate of $3,595 is expected to drop to $3.15 per $100 assessed valuation. The general operating rate is estimated at $2.16 compared to last year's $2.25, Supt. Edwin C. Pino said.

The seventh-eighth grade override tax which the district levied at 5.15 cents last year will be reduced to 38 cents.

Trustees, meeting at Del Mar School, held to the budget figure they set two weeks ago after some residents had urged cuts.

They agreed to continue the bus service at a cost of $17,000, and to employ a secretary to the district's principals at $4,500.

Trustees agreed to hold off employment of a principal-manager at $9,000 to $10,000 until they see whether a qualified person can be found, but left that sum in the budget.

The board split on employing an additional seventh-eighth grade teacher at $6,500, with trustees David D. Ring and Mrs. Marilyn Steinau opposed.

The budget approved includes $60,000 in reserves.

The tax rate cut is made possible by an increase in the district's assessed valuation of approximately 49 per cent.

The Reed School District Board also:

1. Elected David D. Ring as board chairman, replacing Mrs. Alyce Farkas; elected James B. Atkin as vice chairman; K. L. Rice, clerk; Ring, trustee representative to the county committee on school district organization.
2. Approved a request for a $375,000 loan from the county to cover district expenses until tax monies come in the fall. This is in addition to $50,000 already borrowed to meet June expenses.
3. Heard a report on psychological services provided by the district from district psychologist Gail Cox.
4. Approved joining six associations and research service groups at a cost of $790.90 yearly.
5. Renewed contracts with the Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum, Junior Theater, and San Francisco Players Guild at total cost of $735 yearly.
6. Hired three teachers for Del Mar School: Judith Gilpin, science; Mrs. Barbara Swigert, half-time art teacher, and Mrs. Helen Livengood, home economics.

Novato Water Mains Approved

North Marin County Water District directors last night approved an agreement with Finley-Carpenter, Inc., developers of Bahia, to install a 24-inch water main out Atherton Avenue to the 1,500-acre development. Cost was set at $192,700.

The board approved an 8-inch main costing $8,080 from Olive Avenue to Millwood Terrace Unit 2 by Oliver and Evelyn Brown, developers.

Four bids were received on a trenching machine, but award of contract was postponed until July 20, as the district is negotiating to buy a used machine from Marin Municipal Water District.

Aby Replaced As Pollution Chairman

Dr. Charles W. Aby of San Rafael today was replaced as chairman of the Bay Area Air Pollution District by Louis Chess, San Mateo County supervisor.

Other officers elected for 1965-66 were James P. Kenney, Contra Costa County supervisor, vice chairman and John Ratekin, Union City councilman, secretary.

Parking Lot Hearing Set In Sausalito

Sausalito city councilmen in a 15-minute meeting last night set for Tuesday hearing on an ordinance which would permit raising the fee for Parking Lot No. 3 across from Vina del Mar Plaza from 10 cents to 20 cents an hour. The council adjourned to Tuesday.

Councilmen also commended the Sausalito Artists and Merchants Assn. for sponsoring Monday's fireworks display and praised city personnel for their assistance.

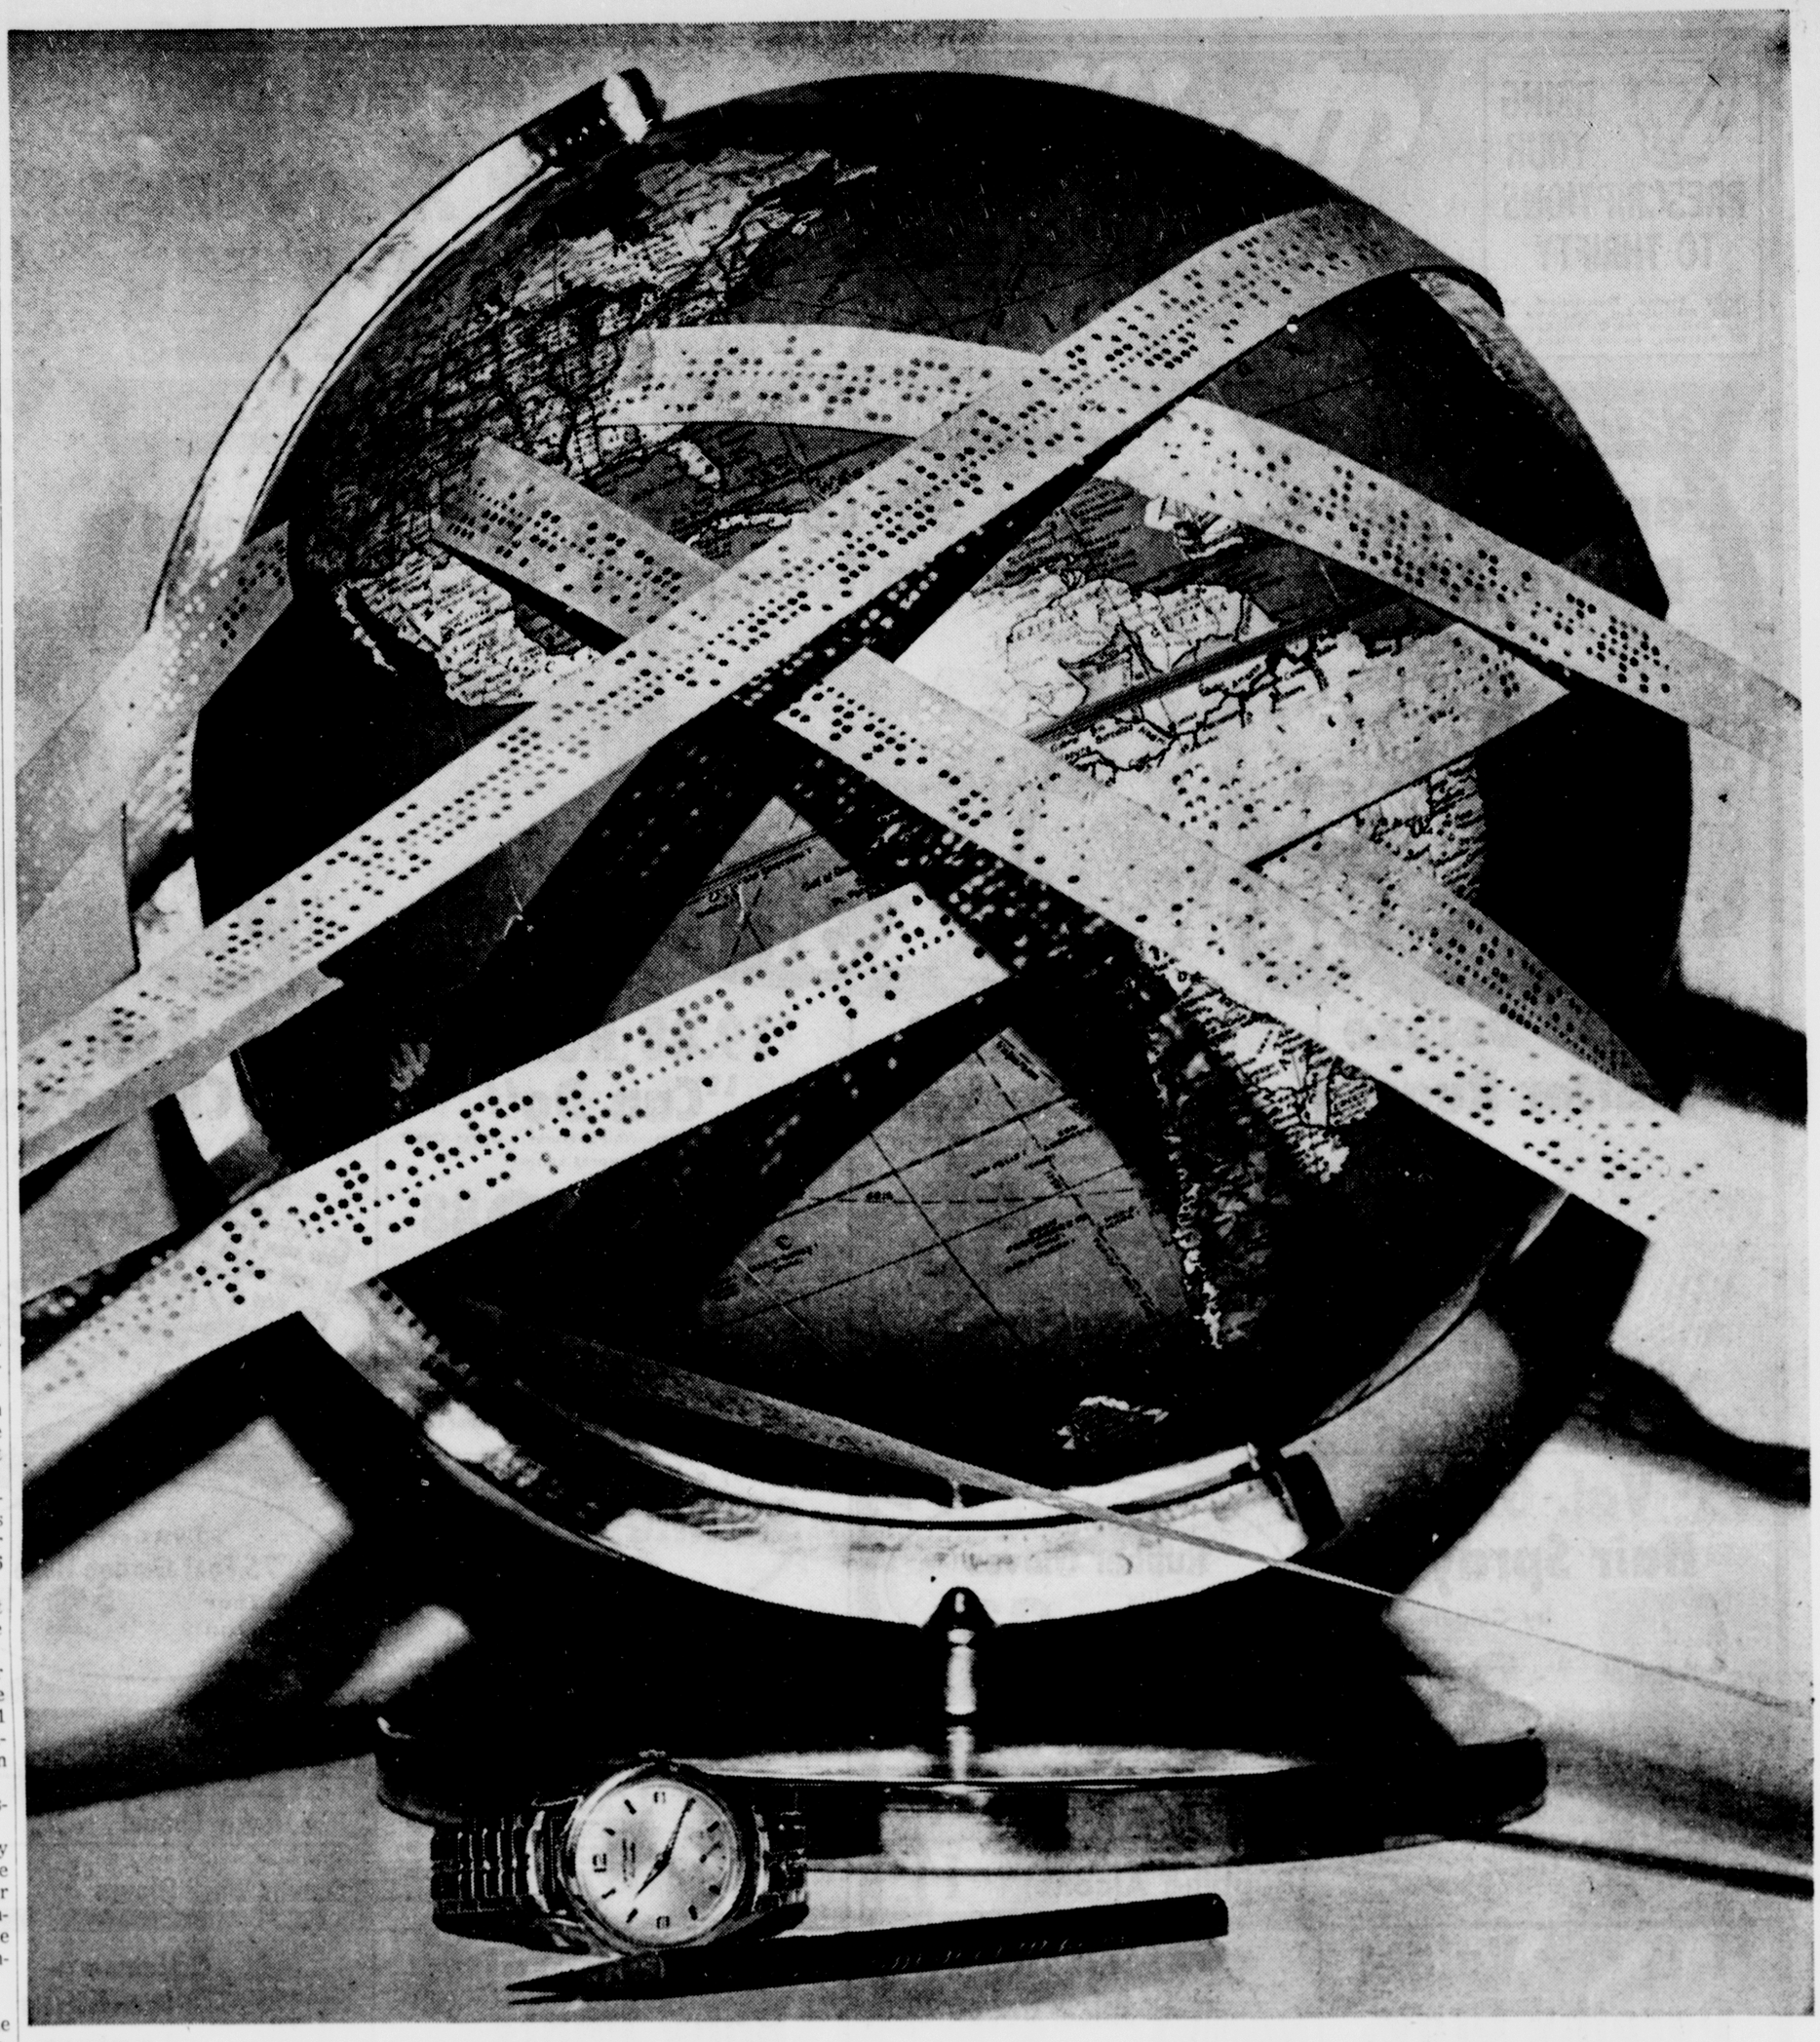
City Mgr. Charles Brown announced the state division of highway it is going ahead with an auction of a small parcel of property near Richardson Bay School.

Robert M'Carthy Gets New Post

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown announced today he has appointed former Sen. Robert I. McCarthy of San Francisco to the Motor Vehicle Pollution Control Board.

McCarthy, 44, was a Democratic assemblyman from 1948 to 1952 and served in the Senate from 1954 to 1958. He was State Director of Motor Vehicles from 1958 to 1961.

McCarthy, who lives in San Mateo, is in private law practice in San Francisco. His brother is Republican State Sen. John F. McCarthy of San Rafael.



For Marin, the world's fastest reporting

We tied up the globe in the I-J's new electronic tape to show there's something new in the world of news reporting in your daily I-J.

For that tape "speaks" a new electronic language which we take directly from the Associated Press sports wire, rather than news in the form of teletyped copy.

We feed this tape into a battery of new Elektron linotypes which "read" the little perforations and change impulses into words, set in metal. All at speeds Buck Rogers never dreamed of.

Result: MORE NEWS in less time and LATER NEWS . . . giving you a sports section with more depth and complete world coverage.

These electronic speed demons also enable us to bring you the closing prices of our New York Stock List TODAY, instead of tomorrow. And to print the entire weekly range of ALL New York stocks in our Saturday edition.

Just another way of advancing the I-J to further your reading enjoyment.

Northgate Confirms Hickory Farms Plans For Store Lease

Last March this column stated that another Hickory Farms of Ohio store would probably be opened in the Northgate Regional Shopping Center. This has now been confirmed by the Draper Companies.

The franchisee is said to be one Paul T. Philippe, who has signed a lease for 2,000 square feet on the mall. No date of opening is given. The store will handle Hickory Farms' smoked meats, sausages and cheeses.

EDWIN SMALLE AND ASSOCIATES, new shop specializing in custom interiors, will open at 828 Grant Avenue on Monday. The business is a partnership of Edwin Smalle and Mrs. Richard C. Alcorn and will also feature a line of gifts and home accessories for wedding, anniversaries, Christmas and other occasions. The store will observe hours from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays.

De Narie

Seifert

JOE RICCI DE NARIE, who has been with the Peacock Gap sales office for the past four years, has been named exclusive agent for Bel Marin Keys, a marina residential development of 2,200 acres north of Hamilton Air Force Base.

Before going into Marin County real estate, De Narie was three years with MacArthur Realty in San Francisco and three years with Pride Properties in Van Nuys. His office will be at the Bel Marin Keys sales pavilion.

DR. WOLFGANG K. SEIFERT of San Rafael has been appointed a senior research chemist at the Richmond laboratory of California Research Corp. He has been engaged in the transformation of petroleum-based raw materials into petrochemicals and polymers. Publications and patents have resulted from his work.

TWO MARIN MEN have been made regional loan officers for San Francisco Federal Savings and Loan Assn.

Marvin S. Thompson of Novato is new supervisor for Contra Costa, Alameda and Solano counties. He has been with the company since 1962. Previously he spent four years with the California highway department and three years with Zellerbach Paper Corp.

Thompson

Sheehan

Timothy S. Sheehan of San Rafael now supervises loans for San Francisco and northern San Mateo counties. With S. F. Federal since 1963, previously he was with Bay View Federal Savings and earlier spent six years as a mortgage broker for Wells Fargo Bank.

TWO SOUTHERN MARIN architects have been cited recently for outstanding home designs.

Fred H. Field of Sausalito is credited by June issue of California Home for a house designed for Nick Reynolds, member of the Kingston Trio.

Robert W. Hayes has had his own Sausalito hillside home featured in the July Sunset magazine — designed from an existing partly framed structure that had stood idle for three years.

Quiet Trading Net Moderate Mart Loss

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed lower today for the second straight day.

The moderate loss came in very quiet trading.

The blue chips were weak, particularly steels and motors.

Prices opened mixed, sank during the middle of the session and then firmed a bit near the close.

Brokers indicated they were not alarmed by the two-day loss because it came on such low volume. They pointed out that a reaction could be expected after last week's big four-day runup.

American Broadcasting traded at 54¼, up ¼, on a block of 20,000 shares.

Control Data and United Air Lines advanced about a point. General Motors declined more than a point and Jersey Standard was off about half a point.

Volume for the day was estimated at 3.3 million shares, compared with 3.41 million yesterday.

Steels, motors, aircrafts, utilities, chemicals, oils and airlines declined.

General Motors and Chrysler lost about a point despite the fact that new car sales in June were the highest for any month.

U.S. Steel and Jones & Laughlin were down half a point.

Rails became stronger than in early trading and Southern Railway and Illinois Central picked up half a point.

Corning Glass fell 3 points and American South African lost 2.

NEW IBM DICTATOR IS LIGHTWEIGHT

This new dictating machine by International Business Machines Corp. weighs only 28 ounces and is compact enough to use with one hand. Designed for in or out of the office, it has a built-in microphone and is powered by a single battery which provides the equivalent of three months of average dictation. The "Magnabelt" holds up to approximately 1,000 words on a magnetic belt which can be mailed for transcribing. Local representative is Joe Sieve, 914 Irwin Street, San Rafael.

Tony Lema Cracks Record In British Open

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — Defending champion Tony Lema of San Leandro, Calif., fired a five-under-par 68 today — a course record — for the first round lead in the British Open Golf Championship.

Playing spectacularly with only two days' practice — as he did last year when he won at St. Andrews — the lean Californian took a one-stroke lead over Ireland's Christy O'Connor, who earlier had broken the record for the reconstructed Birkdale seaside links with a 69.

Arnold Palmer and Irishman Joe Carr tied for third place with three-under-par 70's.

Of the early American finishers, Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, West Va., shot a 74, three-putting the first and last holes; Phil Rodgers of La Jolla, Calif., registered a 75 and the two amateurs both beat 80.

Lema scored six birdies in his round, starting with one at the first and ending with another at the 18th where he just missed an eagle three by two inches.

His card:

Lema out 454 335 333—33

Lema in 433 435 454-35—68.

From the seventh through the 14th holes, Lema was only two shots over even threes. It was exactly the way he battered the Loop at St. Andrews to win his 1964 championship last year, with very little practice on both occasions.

Lema started out with a birdie four at the par five first hole, hitting a three-iron to the front edge of the green.

He had a bogey five at the second after his five iron approach wound up in a bunch of grass, but rallied with a birdie three at the 320-yard fifth.

He finished the outward nine with two birdies — with a 30 foot putt at the eighth and a 21 footer at the ninth.

Lema scored another birdie three at the 412-yard 11th hole, where he used a wood, an eight iron and sank an eight footer. Another birdie came at the 517-yard 13th hole, with a drive, six-iron and two putts.

Then he finished with a birdie four at the 18th with a drive, four iron to 25 feet and two putts.

Lema said he thought cameras should not be allowed on a golf course. "I'm not worried about people talking — but those clicks. They shake you," he said.

Lema had seven single putt greens and no three putts. So he wound up the round with a total of 29 putts.

Other international stars, including Roberto De Vicenzo, Harry Weetman and Angel Miguel, saw their scores skyrocket over par.

Arnold Palmer, second to Nicklaus in the favorite's list, was among the late starters. So were Sam Snead, Doug Sanders and the new U.S. Open champion, South Africa's Gary Player.

The burly, 210-pound Nicklaus, who fired a 65 in his practice round yesterday, started badly with fives on the first three holes. But he rallied to salvage a par score.

After his round Nicklaus said: "The conditions were not difficult out there. And I would expect to see some good scores by the end of the day.

"But I found the greens slow and bumply. They are not as good as the other ones I have played in the British Open.

"I missed half my putts by misreading the greens."

Then he added: "Despite the poor start with those three fives it was the back nine that really killed me.

"I had bogeys on the two short holes — the 12th and 14th. Those are the two holes where you've a chance to pick up strokes with birdies."

A Most Unusual Game Of Golf; Story Behind Those Fireworks

Members of the Marin Country Club are still talking about a fascinating 18-hole round of golf played by member Jack Gibson of San Rafael a couple of Saturdays ago.

An 11 handicapper, Gibson fired a par 72, which is only a small part of the story. The big news is that he eagled two par four holes, holing out a full seven iron in each case. Jack also had four birdies and a quadruple bogey (if there is such a thing) on another hole.

HOWARD MOREHOUSE
Job well done

His front nine was phenomenal. For example, on the 390-yard, par 4 third hole, he canned his first eagle, on the par 4 fifth hole he had an 8 and on the 360-yard, par 4 sixth hole, he collected second eagle.

In those first six holes he was eight under par with a quadruple bogey!

Mr. Gibson that day was a model of eccentricity.

Marin Club pro Bob Finn, reporting the round yesterday, likened Gibson's eagles to "a couple of holes in one on the same day. The odds are staggering against such an occurrence — but it happened right here."

Witnesses to Gibson's execution of the odds, according to Finn, were Milt Morley and George Greenwood.

A round like that calls for a martini. Or at least a Gibson.

YOU MAY have noticed those fireworks exploding over Peacock Gap the other evening.

Some folks thought it had to do with Independence Day, but the siss-boom-bah was really Peacock's way of celebrating the success of its two "name" professional athletes — golfer Billy Casper and tenniser Ken Rosewall.

On the same day — Sunday, the Fourth of July — Casper won the Western Open golf championship in Chicago while Rosewall won the St. Louis pro tourney.

Both stars play under the nom de plumage of Peacock, having signed contracts with the San Rafael playland last spring.

However, it wasn't a clean sweep for Peacock's star athletes Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Jerome C. Draper Jr., (he's the president of Draper Companies which own the Gap), lost in the finals of the Peacock mixed team tennis tourney Sunday. Boo!

MARIN ATHLETIC Club, one of America's foremost long-distance running organizations, held its annual picnic at Stinson Beach recently. The guys ran to the beach from Mill Valley, via the 6.8-mile Dipsea trail. The sissy gals drove over the mountain and met 'em there.

DID YOU know that the Mill Valley Merchants team, now in its 55th season, is the second oldest semi-pro baseball club in the Bay Area? Only the Jefferson club of San Francisco, organized in 1900, has been going longer.

Tiburon Pelicans were two years older than the M.V. Merchants, but they folded this season after 56 years of play.

MILL VALLEY Tennis Club did such a bang up job in hosting the national men's 35 championships in 1964 and 1965 that the U.S. Lawn Tennis Assn. has selected the Southern Marin Club to stage the 1966 nationals.

For this, a tip of the hat to Chairman Howard Morehouse whose tourney direction last month was cheered by players and spectators alike.

WATCH THE BALL—Australia's Bruce Devlin watches his tee shot on the second hole during a practice round for the British Open yesterday. He was paired with Gary Player of South Africa (black sweater, left), against Arnold Palmer (right) and Sam Snead (third from right). The golf classic has drawn top players from throughout the world. Giants Hope To Stop Cardinals With Bob Shaw

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Exactly two months ago, the San Francisco Giants placed slugging first baseman Orlando Cepeda on the disabled list.

The Giants have lost 15 games by one run this season. That includes a 3-2 defeat last night by St. Louis, the second consecutive one-run loss to the Cardinals.

After 79 games last year, Cepeda had batted in 44 runs. Willie McCovey, his replacement at first, has 45 through the first 79 games this season. But both could be playing if Cepeda were healthy.

Bob Shaw (7-6) tried to halt the Giants' slide today against Card ace Bob Gibson (10-6) in the finale of the three-game series.

Juan Marichal lost his seventh game in 20 decisions last night and his fourth by a single run although he allowed one hit less than the seven the Giants collected.

But the Dominican right-hander ran into speedy Lou Brock. The former Chicago outfielder got three hits, scored twice, stole a base and batted in a run.

Brock bunted for a hit in the sixth with the score tied 2-2. He stole second for his 35th theft of the year and rode home with the winning run on Curt Flood's single.

Brock hustled a single into a double in the fourth, moved to third on an infield out and scored the run that tied it 2-2 on Ken Boyer's single.

In the opening inning, Brock singled Dick Groat across from third. Groat had singled, moved to second on a pssed ball and to third on a wild pitch.

McCovey got two hits in three trips for the Giants, including a triple that must have made Matty Alou feel better.

In the third, McCovey's high fly to center fell 30 feet in back of Flood when he lost it in the lights at Busch Stadium. Brock picked up the loose baseball and threw it toward third.

The ball hit McCovey's heel and he continued home with the run that put the Giants ahead 2-1. It was scored as a triple and an error on Brock.

Alou lost a ball in the Missouri sun Monday and it went as a triple for Brock, who later scored the tying run.

Mays hit his 22nd homer on June 23. This tied him with Stan Musial for second place on the list of career home run hitters in the National League with 475. But Mays hadn't even gotten an extra-base hit since that homer.

Dodgers Thump Reds To Take Back Lead

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati's stay in first place in the National League was short-lived. It lasted just 24 hours.

The Los Angeles Dodgers, who gave up the league lead to the Reds Monday night, grabbed it back last night with an 11-7 victory over Cincinnati. The Dodgers are now in front by one game.

Cincinnati Manager Dick Sisler said, "It felt good while it lasted. I think we will be back up there. It's a question of pitching."

Sisler's big question mark is southpaw Jim O'Toole, who failed to survive the second inning in going down to his eighth defeat. Sisler announced after the game O'Toole is being sent back to the bullpen.

The Dodgers' Don Drysdale, meanwhile, snapped out of his slump and recorded his 12th victory against eight defeats. The big righthander had lost five straight.

Pittsburgh whipped Philadelphia 8-4, Don Cardwell pitching a six-hitter for his seventh straight victory, and St. Louis edged the San Francisco Giants 3-2 in the only other N.L. games. The New York Mets and Chicago Cubs had the day off and the Houston-Milwaukee game was rained out.

Drysdale, however, still was not in top form as he was routed in the seventh inning on successive homers by Frank Robinson and Gordy Coleman. Drysdale gave up 10 hits and six runs.

"I thought he had pitched better ball during his losing streak than he did tonight," said Dodger Manager Walt Alston.

Drysdale helped his own cause by slugging his fourth home run in the second inning.

The Dodgers struck for three runs in the first inning, two in the second, three more in the fifth, two in the seventh and one in the ninth.

Lou Johnson led Los Angeles' 13-hit attack against five Cincinnati pitchers with two doubles and a single and two runs batted in.

Maury Wills stole two more bases, increasing his season's total to 51, to put him 23 games ahead of his pace in 1962 when he established the major league record of 104 thefts.

Robinson, Coleman and Deron Johnson led the 14-hit attack by Cincinnati with three hits apiece.

The clubs meet for the rubber of their three-game set tonight with two of the winningest pitchers on the mound.

Sandy Koufax, who hasn't tasted defeat since May 26, will oppose Sammy Ellis, 12-3. Koufax, after his 15th victory, has also lost only three.

Cardwell, 8-2, drove in two Pittsburgh runs with a fifth inning single and held the Phillies to one run and four hits until the eighth, when Johnny Callison unloaded a three-run homer.

Ex-Pitcher Jimmie Ring Dies From Heart Attack

NEW YORK (UPI) — James (Jimmie) Ring, who helped pitch the Cincinnati Reds to the world championship in 1919 and later was involved in the famous Frank Frisch-Rogers Hornsby trade, died yesterday of a heart attack. He was 70 years old.

Ring pitched for 12 years in the major leagues with the Reds, Philadelphia Phillies, New York Giants and St. Louis Cardinals, winning 118 games and losing 149.

A native of Brooklyn, N. Y., Ring posted a 10-9 record for the Reds in 1919 and won the fourth game of the World Series with the Chicago White Sox, giving Cincinnati a 3-1 lead in games.

In 1926, he was traded along with Frisch to the Cardinals in the deal that brought Hornsby to the Giants. The baseball world was stunned at the trading of Hornsby, who had led the Cardinals to their first National League pennant and world championship that year.

Funeral services will be held Friday at the Ascension R. C. Church in Elmhurst with interment in St. John's Cemetery.

Purkey Kept Out Of Reds Rotation

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Manager Red Schoendienst said yesterday that righthander Bob Purkey will be kept out of the St. Louis Cardinal pitching rotation until after the July 13 All-Star game. Purkey's arm stiffened after his victory over the New York Mets last Sunday.

TRANS-PACIFIC RACE

Kialoa Holds On Top Spot

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two yachts out of Newport Harbor, Calif., were reported about a mile apart and battling for the lead of the Trans-Pacific Yacht Race after the quarter mark.

Logging a winning pace of 251 miles a day in mounting seas was the 72-foot sloop Kialoa II, owned by John B. Kilroy.

Her long, aluminum hull was apparently having little trouble breaking through the whitecaps whipped by winds of 18 to 20 knots.

About a mile astern and 34 miles north, based on reported plottings, was Baldwin M. Baldwin's Audacious, also 72 - feet long, but logging a slower 235 miles.

The plottings were radioed to race observers aboard the U.S. Coast Guard Cutter Dexter. The cutter is accompanying the fleet of 55 racers on their 2,225-mile run from Los Angeles to Diamond Head, Hawaii. Plottings were computed for the 24-hour period ending at 8 a.m. yesterday.

Two other yachts were reported logging 233 miles and bunched "almost close enough for the crews to exchange insults." They were the Serena, an 83-foot schooner out of San Francisco Yacht Club of Belvedere that was the race's scratch boat, and the Ticonderoga, a 72-foot ketch from Portland that won the 1963 race.

Slightly behind was the South African ketch, Stromvogel, with a day's pace of 227 miles.

Elapsed time leaders were:

Class A, Kialoa II, Audacious, Stromvogel.

Class B, Irish Mist, Rascal, Santana.

Class D: Nyon, Misty and Zephrus.

Politics Hit U.S.-Polish Track Meet

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — The U.S. vs. Polish track and field meet here next month may get involved in politics because of a Polish invitation to Communist East Germany to join in.

U.S. Embassy officials expressed surprise last night at a casual announcement that East Germans would be on the program of the Aug. 7-8 meet between Poland and the United States. They acknowledged that it could cause complications and were checking with Washington as to what the U.S. government position is.

Past trips of the U.S. track and field team to Europe have been under state department sponsorship. The department might oppose participation in an event that would irritate West Germany or would enhance the prestige of East Germany, which the United States does not recognize.

Zbigniew Keskiewicz, secretary general of the Polish Track and Field Association, said the three countries will compete in the same stadium, but the scoring will be as if there were two entirely separate bilateral meets — Poland vs. the United States and Poland vs. East Germany.

Keskiewicz said Donald Hull of the U.S. Amateur Athletic Union had written the Poles in January that the meet should be bilateral, not multilateral.

Good Advice To Drivers From Pros: Pay Attention

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—Pay attention to what you're doing; they always ask questions at the morgue.

A record total of 557 victims no longer is in a position to answer any questions today.

They represent the number killed on the highways during the 96-hour Fourth of July holiday and one of the chief reasons they died was because they were not paying enough attention to their driving.

Jim Hall and Hap Sharp, two of the leading candidates for the 1965 U.S. road racing championship, both agree on that point.

"The principal fault of today's average highway driver is he isn't attentive enough behind the wheel," declared the blond, lanky 29-year-old Hall, who teamed up with the heavier, 37-year-old Sharp to win the Sebring 12-hour endurance race earlier this year.

"Instead of being alert every second, too many people drive their cars as if it were second nature," Hall added. "They start out for the neighborhood supermarket, begin thinking about a dozen different things and wind up in front of their office instead."

Sharp, sitting nearby, nodded his head in agreement.

"I know I'm much more attentive driving on the track than I am on the highway," he said.

Hall said he tries to pay 100 per cent attention to his driving every moment he's on the track although he confessed there's always a tendency to do a little day-dreaming "when you get too far out ahead."

Sharp and Hall are a pair of Texans unique in their field because they designed and built the race car they both drive. It is called a Chaparral but cannot be bought because it is not on the market.

The two partners finished second and third to Bruce McLaren of New Zealand last weekend in Montreal but wound up one-two at Watkins Glen, N.Y., two weeks ago.

Road racing differs from track racing such as the famed Indianapolis 500 in that it simulates actual driving conditions. That means road racers go uphill and downhill and have to make right and left turns, while in track racing the drivers are called upon to make only left turns.

Moreover, road racing has mushroomed in popularity to such an extent that manufacturers, such as Robert Bosch, give drivers like Hall and Sharp $10,000 just to use their products in their car.

Twins Bop Bosox, Increase League Lead To 2 Games

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Like the hero of the old weekly movie serials, Minnesota's Jimmie Hall was snatched from the edge of the cliff just before plummeting into the icy gorge below.

His rescuer was Twins' President Calvin Griffith, who, incidentally, put him in the precarious position in the first place. But Griffith plucked him off at the last moment and now sits back and watches as Hall leads the Twins' assault on the rest of the American League.

The slugging center fielder drove in four runs with two homers and added a single in three times at bat last night, sparking Minnesota to a 9-0 victory over Boston.

The Twins' sixth consecutive triumph gave them a two-game lead in the American League, the biggest bulge they've had since June 9.

It was about six weeks ago that Griffith maneuvered Hall to the brink. At that time, he seriously offered the 27-year-old lefty in a trade to Charles Finley and the last-place Kansas City Athletics.

But Hall clung to the edge by one finger, the deal fell through and about two weeks afterward Griffith conceded:

"I can't trade Hall now. We might get something to help us, but it would sure hurt us to give him up."

After the rescue, Hall commented: "I don't think the trade talk bothered me. It bothered my family — the thought of moving and all. Since we're a contender, I've got to like it better here."

And Hall noticeably has made certain the Twins are a contender. Headed for the best season in his three-year career, Hall leads Minnesota in four batting departments. He's third in the AL with a .325 average, tied for third with 16 homers, fifth with 49 runs batted in and tied for fourth with 87 hits.

In other A. L. games last night, Detroit whipped New York 8-0, Baltimore defeated Kansas City 4-1 and Los Angeles downed Washington 6-2. Rain washed out Cleveland and Chicago.

Jim Grant scattered eight hits for Minnesota, gaining his ninth victory in 11 decisions. Don Mincher also homered for the Twins while Bernie Allen singled across two runs. Hall's homers came in the first and second innings, each time with Zoilo Versalles aboard.

Detroit's Denny McLain won his sixth straight contest by stopping the Yankees on seven hits. Bill Freehan and Norm Cash, both hitting near .200 each hit two-run homers and drive in three runs. McLain, now 7-3, didn't allow a Yankee past second base until the ninth inning.

Steve Barber drove in two Baltimore runs with a homer and a sacrifice fly and stopped Kansas City on three hits before Dick Hall relieved him in the ninth and ended a threat. One of the hits off Barber, now 7-6, was Rene Lachemann's third-inning home run.

Dean Chance gave up eight hits in five innings but still picked up his first victory for Los Angeles in five weeks. Chance, now 5-4, left for a pinch hitter in the fifth, and Marcelino Lopez finished up. Jim Fregosi collected three singles and drove in three runs for the Angels.

CLOSE PLAY: ALL EYES ON THE UMPIRE

Pittsburgh Pirates' Willie Stargell slides across home plate trying to avoid the tag by Philadelphia's Clay Dalrymple during the fifth inning of yesterday's game. They both look to umpire "Shag" Crawford for a ruling, and his emphatic gesture of "out" to complete the second half of a double play. The Pirates won the game, 8-4. (UPI Telephoto)

Committee Probes Boxing

WASHINGTON (AP) — After a flashback to the rosy-hued days when Jack Dempsey and Rocky Marciano were heavyweight champions, a House committee looks today at the way things are now in the boxing age of Cassius Clay and Sonny Liston.

"You're going to hear a different story," fight manager Cus D'Amato told newsmen yesterday after listening to Dempsey and Marciano tell how things were and how they should be now.

D'Amato, who was in Floyd Patterson's corner when he won the heavyweight championship, didn't explain what he would tell the House Interstate Commerce Committee which is considering a bill to establish a federal boxing commission.

Also scheduled to testify were Nat Fleischer, editor of Ring magazine who was at ringside for the Clay-Liston bout in Lewiston, Maine; Fred Brooks of Sportsvision, the firm that handled the theater TV showing of the bout, and Melvin L. Krulewitch, chairman of the New York Athletic Commission which barred Liston from fighting there.

Although the names of Clay and Liston keep bobbing up in the inquiry they are not yet scheduled to make a personal appearance.

"They received the same notification that Dempsey and Marciano got," said a committee spokesman. "They can come as they want to, just like Dempsey and Marciano did."

However, the ranking Republican on the committee, Rep. William L. Springer of Illinois, questioned whether "the hearing would be complete without hearing from the champion — Clay."

A bill introduced by Committee Chairman Oren Harris, D-Ark., would set up a boxing commission. It would give the commission authority to prohibit a wire service, radio or television from carrying an account of a professional bout in interstate commerce whenever it determines that the bout "will be in any way affected by bribery, collusion to effect the result, intentional losing, racketeering, including terrorism, extortion, organized use of threats, coercion; intimidation, or use of violence."

Both Dempsey and Marciano urged that the commission be given authority to license boxers, promoters, managers and even seconds. Both said that a bout should not be allowed on television without approval of the proposed commission.

Dempsey and Marciano argued that boixng was in such sorry shape that it needed drastic help.

Harris told Marciano that he thought the situation was really not that bad and that "Americans are hungry for a good fight."

Harris expressed belief that boxing would be better off if it could stay away from too much federal regulation.

Twins Will Lose Bob Allison For About 3 Weeks

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — The Minnesota Twins lost Bob Allison for about three weeks today when it was learned that the outfielder had sustained a chip fracture of a small bone near his right wrist.

Allison was struck on the wrist in the first inning of the Twins' 9-0 victory over Boston by Red Sox pitcher Jerry Stephenson last night.

X-rays taken during the baseball game disclosed the fracture in the wrist joint, but the league-leading Twins withheld making it public until this morning.

Team physician William Proffitt said Allison's wrist would be placed in a cast for about 10 days. He estimated that it would take about 10 days after that for Allison to be able to play again.

Allison, who has been riding the bench lately with rookie Sandy Valdespino playing against right-handed pitchers,is batting .267 has hit 12 home runs and has 34 runs batted in.

No Definite Report On Cepeda; S.F. Mound Staff Falling Apart

CONNOLLY

Two things could happen to the Giants very quickly. And if either one of 'em occurs, it could mean "disaster" for their 1965 pennant chances or become the springboard from which they could jump right into the National League championship.

The first item concerns S.F. pitching. If it gets "chewed up" all of a sudden, and no one excepting Marichal can finish out a ball game, it's bye-bye baby.

Gaylord Perry, Jack Sanford, Bob Shaw, Ron Herbel, Masonori Murakami, or Bill Henry have been slowly but surely falling apart. If they can hold together for the next 10 days, maybe Orlando Cepeda, slugging first sacker, will be ready. And if he is, the whole complexion of the pennant fight could change.

There is no definite report on the mending ways of Cepeda from Giant headquarters. All they know is he shows up every day, takes his whirlpool bath and does his setting up exercises.

Public relations boss Garry Schumacher hesitates to make any definite statement on when Cepeda will don the uniform.

"It can't be too soon for the Giants," Schumacher says. "We could use him so nicely and I'm sure it would be a stimulant not only to the ball club but the rooting tootin' fans as well."

IT MAY be hard to explain the thinking of a big league manager in a clutch situation. The second guess gives one a terrific urge to submit a question that may never be satisfactorily answered for the reason baseball is like a Swiss cheese — full of holes, all sizes. But if it can be solved I'd like to know who is the most important, a relief pitcher who is going along nicely, or a pinch hitter who is asked to bat for the pitcher who gets tossed out of the game?

Most of the trouble lately with the Giants has been the use of their platoon system. The starting pitcher doesn't seem to last and each succeeding pitcher is sacrificed for the sake of trying to move a pinch hitter into action where a possible run is envisioned.

From this pew, altogether too much emphasis has been put on Giant pinch hitters. They have not done anything startling yet and they haven't done anything startling since they first came here in 1958. So what makes Manager Herman Franks think he has a lot of silent Babe Ruth bats in his dugout?

Maybe it sounds silly, but some 30 odd years ago John Heydler, president of the National League, wanted the club owners to allow pinch hitters for every pitcher.

"It'll give another hitter a job, "the late prexy argued, "and it won't hurt anybody excepting the pitchers who can't hit nor doesn't want a time at bat anyhow."

Well, it is a 1,000 to 1 shot that it'll never take place but if the club owners don't do something about instructing their pitchers on hitting, the game will fall apart for want of sewing at the seams.

THE LOWDOWN on the Richie Allen-Frank Thomas fisticuffs hasn't blossomed yet but one of these days, like murder, it will come out.

Allen represents one of the league's best type of hitters. He is rated today as the equal of Eddie Matthews and to be put in that class is a great testimonial for any 23-year-old.

It couldn't have been the first ruckus between the Phillie pair for Manager Gene Mauch hardly would have lowered the boom so heavily on Thomas, who almost put the Phils in the flag race last year before he was injured.

If Thomas is allowed to go out of the National League, what a pickup he'd be for the Chicago White Sox. The only chance of National League clubs passing him up would have to be on account of his somewhat elevated monthly salary.

It won't be long now!

IT'S NATIONAL SAFE BOATING WEEK

National Safe Boating Week, being observed from July 4 through July 10, is a good time for boaters to take stock of their safety equipment. Shown here are the items which the Mercury outboard people recommend for all small boats: (1) proper boating lights, (2) life jackets for everyone aboard, or (3) buoyant seat cushions, (4) anchor and line, (5) bilge pump, (6) distress signal kit, (7) first aid kit, 8) compass, (9) air horn, (10) fire extinguisher, (11) at least 50 feet of extra line, and (12) lantern.

DeMartini Hurls No-Hit Victory

Mike DeMartini, handed 12-year-old pitcher for Burgars, pitched a no-hitter last Saturday to lead his team to a 4-0 triumph over the All-Stars of the Kentfield-Greenbrae Little League.

Britt Renworth hit a two-run homer in the fifth inning to lead the Burgar batting attack.

DeMartini, pitching his last year in Little League, walked only two batters, and another boy reached first on an error.

JUNIOR BOWLING

Marin Lad Wins Far West Title

Laurie Migliore Jr., of 45 Main Drive, San Rafael, a 16-year-old senior at Marin Catholic High School, is the 1965 Far Western scratch singles junior bowling champion.

Young Migliore, representing Country Club Bowl of San Rafael, won the title Monday by averaging 194 per game in a 14-game test against 95 other outstanding junior bowlers from California, Neveda, Washington and Oregon at Castle Lanes in San Francisco.

LAURIE MIGLIORE JR.
Far Western champ

NINE-GAME FINALS

In the nine-game finals he stormed to the championship with two-game blocks of 383, 405, 413 and a final three-game set of 544.

Laurie's father is co-owner of Country Club Bowl.

The junior Migliore also helped his Country Club team to an eighth-place finish in the team competition. His teammates were Rick Posusney, Rich Miller, Steve De Line and Don Curry.

Marinites Win In Vaca Valley Meet

Bob McEachern and Neil Anderson, both of San Rafael, drove off with some of the top honors last Saturday night in competition at Vaca Valley Drag Strip near Vacaville.

McEachern, driving a 1955 Pontiac, won eliminator and D Modified Production honors while Anderson, in his 1961 Corvette, won eliminator and B Sport class.

Mrs. Devaney Is Las Gallinas Golf Winner

Mrs. John P. Devaney carded 79-24—55 yesterday to win first place in the Las Gallinas Women's Golf Club's trophy day tournament.

In the best of nine play, Mrs. Barry Marsh led Class A with 32-5—27, followed by a quartet tied for runner-up honors: Mrs. Philip Berven, 35-7—28; Mrs. Mike O'Donnell, 37-9—28; Mrs. Frank Martin, 37-9—28.

Marinites Serve In Saigon Area

Involvement of Marin in the war in Viet Nam was pointed up today in a series of reports from the Fleet Home Town News Center, operated by the Navy to provide news of service activities to home town newspapers.

Marine First Lt. Bonner G. Lane Jr. of 105 Chester Avenue, Fairfax, has been awarded the Air Medal for participation in flights against the Viet Cong with Marine Medium Helicopter Squadron 365, the news center reported. The squadron is based at Futema, Okinawa.

Armed Forces Expeditionary Medals for service off the Viet Nam coast aboard the aircraft carrier Midway went to two Marin sailors: Boilerman 1c Vernon W. Fostine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fostine of 341 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, and Ensign Michael Glenn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Glenn of 318 Butterfield Road, San Anselmo.

Serving aboard the carrier Bon Homme Richard, operating with the Seventh Fleet off the Viet Nam coast, are four other Marinites: Fireman Nathan L. Lester IV, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan L. Lester III of Woodacre; Seaman Apprentice Dennis M. Brogan, son of Mrs. Jeanne M. Brogan of 336 Ethel Avenue, and Fireman Apprentice Gene A. Foss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Foss of 595 Ethel Avenue, both Mill Valley, and Electrician's Mate 3c Thomas R. Skinner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Skinner of 906 Railroad Avenue, Novato.

'Routine' Personnel Moves Hit

Marin County Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen yesterday questioned inclusion of a six-page report on county personnel changes in the "routine" portion of the agenda for the board meeting.

He noted that the report included 15 appointments, 20 promotions and six step increases.

County Administrator Alan Bruce assured Kettenhofen that all had been authorized during budget discussions.

Kettenhofen said he would like personnel matters to come to the board with a recommendation from the county personnel commission.

"We have a personnel commission, let's make use of it," he said.

Bruce said he would include this suggestion in a report he is preparing on the function of county committees and commissions.

Widow Granted $2,500 A Month

Blanche Pauline Bercut, widow of pioneer San Francisco groceryman Henri Louis Bercut and co-executor of his 2½-million dollar estate, yesterday was granted $2,500 monthly allowance pending settlement of the estate.

Mrs. Bercut, of Ross, had submitted an itemized list of $3,084.70 a month expenses, but asked only the $2,500. Approval was by Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court.

Expenses listed by Mrs. Bercut included $250 a month for clothing; $350 for home entertaining; $400 for a San Francisco apartment; $50 for grooming, feeding and hospital bills for her poodle, and $150 for entertaining at the Women's Athletic Club.

Bercut died March 10. He left $100,000 cash, $360,000 in bonds; $1,750,000 in stocks; $175,000 in notes receivable; $150,000 in real property; $50,000 in partnership interests, and $10,000 miscellaneous.

County May Lose Cash On Tiburon Flood Act

All or part of the $6,000 put up by the county for formation of a flood control zone including Tiburon and Belvedere will be lost if the zone is dissolved as proposed by the City of Tiburon.

Marin County supervisors received this news yesterday when they set a hearing on the disolution for 9:30 a.m. Aug. 3.

The county transferred the money to the Tiburon Sanitary District in April, 1964, to guarantee payment of engineering fees and other costs in the formation of a flood control zone, according to a report from County Administrator Alan Bruce.

Bruce said County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney, after a study of the joint powers agreement with the sanitary district on the transfer of funds, has concluded that the money is not recoverable.

Bruce recommended that the board set the hearing on the dissolution of the flood control district and ask that the sanitary district return what is left of the $6,000. He recommended that any balance left in the flood control district fund be divided, with 28.2 per cent going to Belvedere and 71.8 per cent to Tiburon.

Assessment district proceedings for work under the flood control district came to a halt last December when Tiburon took exception to the design of projects proposed, Bruce said.

Bon Air Parcel On Council List

Rezoning a two-acre parcel south of Bon Air Road and west of the Corte Madera Creek bridge from residential to commercial will be considered by the Larkspur City Council at 8 p.m. today.

Mosk Realty Co. requested the rezoning. The ordinance was introduced at the council's June 2 meeting.

Placing stop signs on Chevy Chase Court at Wiltshire Avenue and on Via Barranca eastbound at Via La Paz will be discussed.

Dixie Additions On Board Agenda

Trustees of Dixie School District will discuss additions to the Miller Creek and Dixie schools at their meeting at 8 p.m. today at the administration building, 35 Trellis Drive, San Rafael.

Also on the agenda is review of bids on addition of a classroom to Bernard Hoffman School.

Garden Pest Foe

Dr. Richard L. Doutt of Mill Valley, chairman of the division of biological control at the University of California, will speak on the possibility of introducing natural enemies to garden pests at the Redwood Shade and Garden Club meeting Friday at 8 p.m. in Whittaker Hall of St. Stephens Parish, Belvedere.

Neighbors Sue Over Right-Of-Way Battle

A San Francisco attorney and his wife have filed suit alleging the neighbors of their residence of 18 months in San Rafael have driven iron stakes, planted trees, and dug a trench in efforts to prevent them from rightfully using easement land to approach the home.

The suit, filed by Mansfield Davis on behalf of his wife, Bernice Freeman Davis, charges that since they purchased property at 172 Reservoir Road, they have been maliciously prevented from using the easement by the defendants, Robert L. and Barbara W. Whiteley.

They allege that the Whiteleys, who reside across the street at 175 Reservoir Road, have driven stakes, dug a trench for water pipes resulting in flooding of a portion of the Davis' property, and otherwise have harrassed and prevented the plaintiff from using an easement provided for in the purchase deed as the only available access to the residence.

Davis said the Whiteleys also have prevented tradesmen from making deliveries to the Davis residence.

He asks an injunction against the Whiteleys and $100,000 in general and punitive damages. Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court yesterday scheduled 2 p.m. on July 19 for the defendants to show cause why a preliminary injunction should not be issued. He also restrained the Whiteleys from preventing access on the roadway until that time.

Concealed Pistol Brings Four Months

Harvey Douglas Crump, 51, was sentenced to four months in county jail yesterday in Marin Superior Court on his guilty plea to possession of a concealed pistol by a former felon.

Crump, of 881 Fourth Street, San Rafael, was arrested by San Rafael police May 14.

Immunization Clinic Is Cut

The Marin County Health Department will not offer immunization clinics Tuesday afternoons during July and August, that office announced today.

Persons seeking immunization against various diseases may be treated at immunization clinics every other weekday from 1 to 4 p.m., the office said.

The Tuesday clinic is being closed for the summer to make room for a special health appraisal clinic for youngsters aged 10-13. The examinations, by appointment only, are being given in conjunction with the Social Services Department.

A Third Generation Restaurateur—

By LOIS SENS

An official menu, tasselled in gold, of a Les Amis d'Escoffier annual dinner held at the Deauville Hotel in Miami Beach, Fla., is a prized possession of Gregory Seubert who was present at the three-hour-long event.

GREGORY AND his wife, Mary Alyce, own and operate Gregory's Restaurant in Corte Madera and as executive chef, Gregory cooks and supervises with the benefit of a lifetime in the restaurant business.

He was born in Nuremberg, Germany, in an atmosphere where both his father and grandfather operated successful restaurants. Gregory attended Hotel School in Germany and went on to Brenner's Park Hotel in Baden Baden and Hotel Roemerbad in Baden Weiler as assistant manager.

He became receptionist at the Wittelbazher Hof in Oberstdorf, Germany, a winter resort hotel where he also took charge of front office and dining room duties.

HIS NEXT sojourn took him to Caracas, Venezuela, where this ambitious young man became maitre d' at the Avila Hotel. He also served as assistant manager of the banquet room of the Tamanaco Hotel and owned Pepe's Restaurant in Baruta. During this time also Gregory played soccer and in 1951, he received a medal from the Venezuelan President Perez Jiminez as a member of the second place soccer team.

NEXT, HE SERVED as assistant chef and steward on board the Peninsula Occidental Steamship Lines sailing between Caracas and Miami.

While at the Deauville Hotel in Miami Beach in 1958 as maitre d', Gregory witnessed the dinner given by the Friends of Escoffier at the hotel. The three-hour meal included aperitifs with hors d'oeuvres followed by a seven-course dinner complemented with five notable wines served separately. Cigars, demitasse and liqueurs completed the dinner.

GREGORY HAS hosted several gourmet groups at his Corte Madera Restaurant, most recently the Society of Bacchus, an elite club of restaurateurs, wine moguls and gourmets with a sumptuous German feast, complete with rare wines.

From Miami, Gregory traveled to Washington, D.C., where he worked at the Louis Hotel and to New York City and the Four Seasons Restaurant. It was in New York that Gregory met and married Mary Alyce Klein in 1959.

HE CAME to San Francisco and Fisherman's Wharf 9 as captain in 1960 and also worked as catering manager at the Edgewater Inn in Corte Madera. He was also a general manager at the Valhalla for two years before starting his own restaurant in January, 1964.

Although he is noted for German fare at Gregory's, the restaurateur prepares continental and American cuisine as well. One of the more popular dishes served in his restaurant is stuffed pork chops.

STUFFED PORK CHOPS

2 trimmed 7-8 oz. center cut pork chops per person, 1½-in. thick

Cut a pocket, slicing close to the bone with a boning knife, leaving a small opening 1 to 1½ inches wide.

STUFFING

1 cup mixed French or Italian marrons and water chestnuts
1 cup diced celery
½ large white onion, diced
1 cup bread crumbs
1 cup fresh cream
1 teaspoon each, salt, cracked pepper, sweet paprika

SAUCE

1 tablespoon cornstarch
½ can beef consomme soup or 1 cup bouillon
1 teaspoon tomato paste

Saute celery and onions in butter or olive oil until glossy and slightly yellow. Add finely chopped chestnuts and saute all ingredients for 10 minutes. Remove from flame and add bread crumbs, cream and blend thoroughly.

STUFF PORK CHOPS with stuffing and close with toothpick or food clamp. (Toothpick may be oiled to prevent burning.) Season with salt, fresh cracked pepper and Hungarian sweet paprika. Sprinkle and rub in on both sides.

Saute pork chops in oil until brown on both sides. Drain remaining grease and cover pork chops with a sauce made by diluting cornstarch in beef consomme soup or bouillon with tomato paste. Deglaze slowly over low heat. Bake at 350 degrees for 15-20 minutes or let simmer for that time over very low heat, tightly covered.

Molded Fruit Medley Can Be Used As A Sort Of Dessert

Have you noticed how our taste in dessert seems to be changing?

These days, due undoubtedly to all the weight watchers, that sweet ending is becoming less sweet than it used to be.

Here, for example, is a refreshing molded fruit medley that can be used as a sort of salad-dessert; it's sweetened with only a couple of tablespoons of sugar.

If you want to serve this fruit combination without molding, turn it into sherbet glasses or dessert dishes. If you do turn it into a mold, be sure at unmolding time to loosen the edges with a small spatula, then dip the mold in hot tap water for a minute or so before inverting on a serving plate. If the mold doesn't lift off easily, quickly dip again in the hot water. Unmolding can be done to perfection — but it does take a little judgement, and that comes through practice.

MOLDED FRUIT MEDLEY

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
½ cup cold water
2 tablespoons sugar
½ cup frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed and undiluted
1 ripe banana, mashed
1 cup mashed strawberries
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
1 pint chilled orange and grapefruit sections, drained
1 cup sliced strawberries and banana

In a saucepan, sprinkle the gelatin over the water. Place over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved — 2 to 3 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in sugar until dissolved, then orange concentrate, mashed banana, strawberries and salt. Chill until mixture mounds when dropped from a spoon. Fold in whipped cream. Turn into a 4-cup mold or individual molds. Chill until firm, about 4 hours. Unmold and surround with remaining fruit. Makes 6 servings.

Searing The Beef

Although it is considered an old-fashioned method, some good cooks like to sear their beef in a very hot (500 degrees) oven before continuing roasting at moderate (350 degrees).

Annual Cake With Berries 'N' Cream

Here's the blueberry cake we bake every year; if you haven't tried it, you may want to do so.

Annual Blueberry Cake

ANNUAL BLUEBERRY CAKE

1 tbsp plus ¼ cup butter
½ cup finely packed light brown sugar
2 cups blueberries
1¼ cups sifted cake flour
1½ tsp baking powder
¼ tsp salt
½ cup granulated sugar
1 large egg
½ tsp vanilla
Grated rind (about 1 tbsp) of a lemon
⅓ cup milk

In a cake pan (8x8x2 inches) melt the one tablespoon butter; sprinkle the brown sugar into the pan in an even layer; spoon blueberries over brown sugar.

Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Cream the ¼ cup butter with the granulated sugar; beat in egg thoroughly with vanilla and lemon rind. Gently beat in sifted flour mixture in three additions, alternately with milk; beat only until smooth. Pour batter over berries. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven for 40 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center of batter comes out clean. Cut in squares in pan and serve warm with whipped cream.

Caramel Frances A Quick Dessert

Our latest version of a favorite quickly made dessert. The combination of butterscotch and coffee adds up to caramel flavor!

CARAMEL CUSTARD FRANCES

1 pkg (4 servings size) butterscotch pudding
1 tbsp instant coffee powder
1 can (6 oz) evaporated milk, undiluted
Milk (from a bottle or carton)
1 tsp vanilla
Whipped cream

In a saucepan, stir together the butterscotch pudding and instant coffee powder. Pour the undiluted evaporated milk into a pint measure; add enough milk to make 2 cups. Gradually stir the milk mixture into the pudding mixture, keeping smooth. Cook according to package directions. Stir in the vanilla. Turn into sherbet glasses; cover tightly; cool; refrigerate and chill. Makes 4 servings.

Like Almond Flavor?

If you like almond flavor, you may add a few drops of almond extract to the syrup from canned peaches and then let the peaches stand in this syrup (in the refrigerator) until serving time.

Enjoy The Summer With A Recipe Of Best Cold Soup

The friend who concocted it was inspired. She wanted to make a version of the popular Spanish Gazpacho that would stand up well in the refrigerator. Usually this cold soup is made with uncooked vegetables and often is not at its best when it is kept longer than a day or two. In this version the vegetables are cooked and strained, yet the Gazpacho has delightful fresh flavor, and you can refrigerate it for four or five days. If you have a food mill, you'll find the straining easy to do.

For contrasting crunchy flavor, our friend serves the soup with garnishes of chopped tomato, cucumber, green pepper, onion and croutons in help-yourself-array. About those croutons. We think they taste best when they are freshly browned in butter — but suit yourself!

In our opinion, the soup is perfect as is — even without the garnishes. Its texture will vary slightly, so if it should be fairly thick, just add a couple of ice cubes to each bowl when you serve it.

Although in recent times Gazpacho has been immensely popular in this country, don't get the idea that it is new to America. As we discovered some years ago, a recipe for the soup is given in the 1839 edition of "The Virginia Housewife" by Mrs. Mary Randolph. Mrs. Randolph spelt the name of the soup with an "s;" Webster specifies a "z."

GAZPACHO CHRISTINE

10 medium tomatoes, coarsely chopped (9 cups)
2 cucumbers, peeled and thickly sliced
2 medium Spanish onions, coarsely chopped
2 green peppers, coarsely chopped
3 sprigs parsely
2 teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon cayenne pepper
1 to ½ teaspoons paprika
2 tablespoons olive oil
2 tablespoons red wine vinegar
Garnishes: chopped tomato, cucumber, green pepper, onion and croutons

Turn all ingredients except garnishes into a large saucepan or kettle. Place over medium heat and cook, stirring, until mixture boils. Reduce heat and let bubble gently, stirring often, about 20 minutes or until all vegetables are soft. Turn mixture, a portion at a time, into a food mill placed over a bowl. Strain mixture through food mill; discard residue. Continue until all the mixture is strained. Taste and, if disired, add additional seasoning. Chill thoroughly. Makes 8 to 10 cups of soup.

Serve Gazpacho in well chilled bowls with a choice of garnishes. If desired, add an ice cube or two to each bowl.

Vary Liver Menu In Sauce Or Loaf

Liver is so good nutritionally that smart homemakers try to get it in the family diet at least once a week.

Liver may be sliced and braised, served plain or with creole sauce, French fried, cut in pieces and prepared with Chinese vegetables to be served as chop suey or ground to be made into a loaf or patties.

(ACROSS FROM THE AMERICAN DISTILLERIES)

POLLY ANGELL, right, a member of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom since shortly after it was founded in 1915, attended a 50th anniversary celebration of the organization held in San Francisco in April. With her is Mildred Scott of Olmsted, executive director of the WILPF.

Vassar Graduate, Author Is Leader In League At Age 79

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Author, feminist and Shakespeare scholar, Pauline K. Angell of Tamalpais Valley at 79 has the same lift to her chin and direct gaze that she had when she graduated from Vassar in 1908.

A lover of freedom, she has been a fighter all of her life on behalf of the oppressed or underprivileged — whether nations and races or individuals, particularly women and children.

It was not surprising, therefore, to learn that she is a leader in the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom.

She joined the organization in 1918 not long after it was founded in 1915 by the famed Jane Addams and Emily Balch, both winners of Nobel peace prizes. This year it is celebrating its 50th anniversary.

Polly as she is known to everyone, started the organization's monthly publication "Four Lights," taking the title from these words in a tale of Magellan's voyage around the world: "He showed four lights when he wanted them to set full sail and follow in his wake."

Today the organization stands for (1) negotiated peace in Viet Nam (2) seating the People's Republic in the U.N. (3) disarmament with U.N. control (4) test ban to include underground testing (5) strengthening the United Nations (6) economic aid to underdeveloped countries (7) ratification of human rights conventions (8) abandonment of plans for multilateral force (9) implementation of civil rights acts (10) abolishing of the House Unamerican Activities Committee (11) congressional reform and (12) strengthening of the ties among women of all countries.

THOUGH SHE IS an ardent pacificist, the blood of freedom-loving pioneers runs in her veins, for her family traces its lineage to a Thomas Angell who came to North America with Roger Williams in 1632, and her great grandfather was in charge of troops at the battle of Lexington.

"It was rather amusing," she recalled, "that when one unit of the WILPF to which I belonged was being called communist, five of us were eligible for the Daughters of the American Revolution."

After graduation from Vassar where she majored in English and history, Polly taught these subjects at the Low-Haywood School for Girls in Stamford, Conn., for three years.

"Then I decided it was time to leave a place where my word was being taken without question," she said. "I got a job in New York working on a vocational guidance survey being conducted by one of my former teachers at Vassar. It was in connection with working papers for children, when there were no proper jobs for them and we were advocating courses in shop work in schools."

At this point she also began working for women's suffrage, and she recalls with amusement an experience she and another suffragette had. Parading past the anti-suffrage headquarters on Fifth Avenue in New York—staffed by women—they wore sandwich boards inscribed, "They say that home is woman's sphere—what are the antis doing here?"

Polly was in charge of the suffrage movement in her home county of Waverly, N.Y., and began working for peace under Woodrow Wilson.

She toured the East and Middle West with an exhibit that featured a dinosaur wearing a sign saying that though he was completely armed, his brain was the size of a peanut and he became extinct.

TYPICALLY POLLY'S writing career began with the publishing in Harper's magazine in 1915 of an article entitled "Matthew Vassar—Feminist."

She became a professional writer at this time, writing stories and articles for such magazines as Ladies Home Journal, Pictorial Review and McCall's and doing some ghost writing. During one interlude she was circulation manager of The Nation.

In 1940 she began writing books, the first being a reader for fourth and fifth graders which told the story of the development of civilization from the stone age to the automobile age.

Her next book was "Pat and the Iron Horse," dealing with Irish immigrants she had known, and the third was "Andy Jackson," which covers his life from boyhood to the time he became president.

Her last book, "To the Top of the World," was published last year on the 55th anniversary of the discovery of the North Pole.

"It is the story of Admiral Perry and Matthew, a Negro without whom he could not have got to the Pole," she said. "This was because of the influence Matthew had with the Eskimos, who took him for one of themselves in race because they had never seen any other dark skinned people."

A VERY SPECIAL FACET of Polly's writing is her published research of Shakespeare.

As an undergraduate she had won a Shakespeare prize that had not been given for three years because no entries had been good enough. She has retained this interest throughout her life and is convinced from research that Shakespeare was the Earl of Oxford and that his wife is the mysterious "dark lady" of the sonnets.

Her article entitled "Light on the Dark Lady: a Study of Some Elizabethan Libels" was published in the Modern Language Quarterly, one of the most scholarly periodicals in the United States.

Polly Angell came to Marin County in 1963 from her home in Croton-on-Hudson, Westchester County, N.Y., to be near her daughter, Mrs. Irving Cohen of Mill Valley and her two grandchildren, Judy, 3, and Paul, 9. But she lives in her own apartment in Tamalpais Valley.

She is now doing research on "Love's Labor Lost" and plans to write a history of the Angell family.

Russian Shoppers Follow String Bag

(Editor's Note: As wife of Canadian Press correspondent John Best, Joan Best learned first hand the time-consuming shopping routine of the Soviet housewife, which she describes here.)

By JOAN BEST

MOSCOW (AP) — The secret of shopping for vegetables and fruit in Moscow is to learn to "follow the string bag."

Instead of scanning newspaper advertisements for bargains — you'll find neither produce ads nor bargains here — the shopper must keep a sharp eye peeled for purchases carried by others who've already been to the market.

In that way, before you arrive at the market place, you have a good idea of what is on sale that day and don't have to spend so much time looking around.

When we arrived in Moscow a year ago, I set out to find the local open-air market. I had been told the general vicinity and, by following the route traced by people carrying potatoes in string bags, was able to locate the market.

During the summer months when many fresh fruits and vegetables were on sale I was often stopped on the street and asked where I'd bought tomatoes or other purchases in my string bag.

Besides learning the market-intelligence value of string bags I also quickly learned all about queue-joining.

Russians have a great weakness for lineups. When a shopper sees one she gets into it and then finds out what she is queueing for. If it doesn't interest her she drops out of line.

But if it does — and Russian women out shopping often seem to be in the market for just about anything that's going — she counts herself ahead by having staked out a position.

Moscow's central market is indoors but many of the stall markets are open-air. Most of the goods on sale are state produce but, particularly in the open-air markets, you find "entrepreneurs" selling goods from their private plots. These generally are higher in both price and quality.

Except for a few home-made signs there are no price tags on fruit and vegetable trays. The shopper just has to inquire.

Double scales with weights are used for weighing purchases. The good shopper takes care to see that only good produce gets on the scales.

On two occasions, women in the lineup behind me have obligingly plucked bad tomatoes out of the lot weighed for me, scowled at by the salesman.

Once when I was buying apples the woman selling apples next door wasn't busy so she removed two rotten apples I had missed. I had no doubt the man selling me the apples had a few words with her afterwards.

Wrapping is casual or nonexistent. If you don't bring your own carton or bag you will get your blueberries in a bit of newspaper folded into a cone.

They have barrels of whole dill pickles which are scooped on to the scales. If you don't supply a carton the wet pickles are dumped into your string bag with the other vegetables.

Sauerkraut and smetana — an excellent sour cream — are sold in bulk so you must supply your own jars.

When shopping in Soviet state stores you queue up to pass the counter to decide what to buy. Then you line up again to pay the required amount at the kassa, or cash wicket. With the receipt ticket you line up still another time to obtain the article.

If the purchase is sold by weight and comes to more ounces than you had anticipated, you may find yourself back in the kassa line. If your purchases

We also have a local store that specializes in partially prepared foods. You can buy stuffed beets or peppers, pieces of chicken or meat with a potato or cracker coating, cooked chickens and salads.

I've watched the clerks prepare a new slab of butter for sale. The slab is about a two-foot cube. A long knife is used to skim a thin layer off the cube. Then two girls, using wire, cut the cube down and across in several layers.

If all those chic "how-to" books you read just happen to omit cleaning the toilet bowl, try doing it with a packet of FAMILY TREE TOILET BOWL CLEANER

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Stars Shop In Tiburon

By MOLLY MARIN

Saturday afternoon the pair strolled along Main Street looking in shops.

At Ronald Mann's Bazaar, Nureyev selected two items of Mexican clothing for Dame Margot which, Mann says she will use in ballet performances. Nureyev bought an antique huipil, which is a native hand-loomed blouse, and a hand-woven poncho from Southern Mexico.

HARRY COHEN of Lagunitas, the waiter who served

DAME MARGOT

Dame Margot, Nureyev and an unidentified companion on the deck of Sam's Anchor Cafe, spoke of Dame Margot's charm. "She has a marvelous way," Cohen said. "She sort of beams.

Nureyev "seemed naive," Cohen said.

They ordered Dutch beer with crushed ice and soda "of all things," Cohen said. Nureyev then sampled a Scotch sour.

Tourists stopped the two for autographs and cameras clicked along Main Street.

"ONLY THE tourists take pictures," said Ruck Baker, proprieter of Tiburon Floral Arts. "We get quite a few celebrities in Tiburon. The townspeople are too blase to bother."

Joan Ungersma Becomes Bride At Stewart Memorial Chapel

In a double-ring ceremony on June 27 in Stewart Memorial Chapel of the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo, Joan Ungersma became the bride of David J. Halperin of Chicago, Ill.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Ungersma of San Anselmo.

Michael Ungersma of San Anselmo, the bride's brother, was best man and ushering were Dr. Stanko Vranich, Harold Spigle, John and Kenneth Spigle.

The bride received her master's degree from the University of California and taught English at the Sorbonne. She has taught French at the University of California and will teach at Wesleyan University in the fall.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Casriel Halperin of Chicago, was graduated from the Illinois Institute of Technology. He received his master's degree from Columbia University and law degree from the Chicago-Kent Law School. He will be working on a fellowship at Yale University in the fall. Mrs. Harry Spigle of South Bend, Ind., is his sister.

Don'ts For Lady Drivers Published

BOSTON (UPI) — The New England Motorist magazine published the following list of "Don'ts" for women drivers:

- Don't ask your own husband, father or brother to teach you to drive the car. A non-relative will prove a better teacher.
- Don't attempt to drive in an open car on a sunny day unless your hat has a soft brim which can be adjusted to your needs.
- Don't try to drive in pumps or high - heeled shoes. They look foolish and are decidedly unsafe.

OH,YES, the issue containing these "Don'ts" was dated March 21, 1917.

SPACE FACE TO KEEP IN STYLE ORBIT

Watch for the return of the small head silhouette with hair tenderly cropped to resemble a fitted helmet. It's part of a trend — fashion and beauty going astral. The directions for a space face to keep in this fashion's orbit: sharply etched, winged-shaped eyebrows over enormously exaggerated eyes that rely more on lashes than liner to increase their size; the wing or bow repeated in the shape of the lips; a smooth, non-matte finish for the face.

Collecting Antiques Pastime For Charter Chapter Officer

The Marin Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Assn. has elected Mrs. Harold L. Hosford of San Rafael as its new president for the club year.

MRS HOSFORD has been a member of the Opus Ten Chapter in Kansas City, Mo., during that time has held the offices of president, recording secretary and corresponding secretary.

She and her husband moved to Marin in February from Kansas City, where she attended Kansas City College. She is presently a secretary-treasurer of Cimino Electric Company, Inc., in San Anselmo.

WANDA'S INTERESTS include collecting antique furniture and lamps and restoring antique picture frames used with her copper pictures. For her designs, she hand tools the copper, then applies acid for colored hues, sprays it with liquid lacquer and finishes with oil paint to emphasize the design.

MRS. HAROLD HOSFORD

THE chapter is open to all women in business and proposes to elevate their standards through self improvement, making women more efficient and understanding in their work. The club's aims are to provide scholarships to young women who are scholastically qualified for higher education but unable to continue financially.

OTHER NEW OFFICERS are Mesdames Norman Lowery, vice president; James Wesson, recording secretary; John Clancy, corresponding secretary; and James Rowan, treasurer.

For Houseguests— A Bath Station

NEW YORK (UPI) — Treat house guests to a bath cart — an old tea cart or just about anything on wheels. Load it with plenty of clean towels, personal soap, dentifrice, a shaving preparation, razor blades, soap or detergent for basin laundry, a few clip-type drying hangers, a jar of cold cream and other convenience items.

Marin Friends Plan Party On Saturday

Marin Friends of SNCC will hold its second annual Summer Cocktail Party on the Belvedere lagoon Saturday from 4 to 7 p.m. at the home of the George Kersons on Lagoon Road.

Last summer's fund-raising affair at the Kerson's was such a rousing success, what with blue skies, blue waters, a perfect setting, entertainers, documentary films from Mississippi and enthusiastic IC supporters from every community in Marin contributing to the cause, that Marin Friends of SNCC are thinking of making it an annual success story, according to chairman Mrs. Richard Wertheimer.

All funds contributed will go directly to the south to support the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee summer projects in Mississippi and Alabama and this year, for the first time, in Louisiana, Arkansas and Georgia as well.

SNCC will continue political work in the black belt with emphasis on building local leadership. The efforts will include voter registration, testing of the 1965 voting bill, political education, freedom schools and a special "Washington lobby" in support of the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenge and free elections in the south.

Mrs. Wertheimer's co-chairman for Saturday's fund-raising event is Mrs. Vincent Hallinan. Assisting as members of the committee are Mesdames Benjamin Dreyfus, Enid Folger, George Kerson, Joseph Moore, Paul Rosenthal and Mrs. Elizabeth Hansen, Marin chairman for the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party.

The public is invited.

Men's Hats Are Lighter

During the hot summer months life rushes on in temperatures that would wilt many a lesser, more primitive animal. Men, especially, suffer from May to September in clothes that are hardly appropriate to the steaming concrete jungle of a city.

In an effort to cool off, men's hats are often the first item of clothing shed. Obviously the lesson learned by earlier inhabitants of tropical climes has been forgotten.

THE ENGLISHMAN'S Calcutta pith helmet and the desert nomad's turban served an important purpose—they sheltered his head from the sun's direct rays and created an "air cooled" pocket of insulation.

Designers, though, of men's hats, are taking "air conditioning" to heart in the newest summer hats. One manufacturer is coming out with a straw hat weighing only two and three-quarters ounces. Called the "Lighweight Macora," it is made of a soft braid fashioned in Ecuador from an unbreakable panama fiber called Macora. The braid is then sewn into a smart feather-light hat.

Another hat is called the "Dude Rancher." This is the typical planter's hat with a rather wide three and three-quarters inch brim that has a distinctive roll to the front. The panama hat body is woven tight and even in Ecuador, then it is shaped and finished at the Texas factory.

TO PUBLISH ENGAGEMENT AND WEDDING STORIES IN THE I-J

The summer months are a popular time for wedding and betrothal announcements. Forms for engagement and wedding story information to be printed by the Independent-Journal are available from the I-J offices in San Rafael, Novato, Mill Valley and Corte Madera.

Wedding forms must be returned to the I-J promptly and information will be printed immediately after the wedding takes place.

The Independent-Journal does not print wedding stories or photographs more than 30 days after the wedding takes place.

Engagement forms may be accompanied by a professional black and white photograph, which may be obtained in the I-J office after it is printed.

Kuchel Displays Immense Stature In Libel Case

California's U. S. Sen. Tom Kuchel, whose physical height is only modest, displayed immense stature last week when he accepted the apologies of those who had spread the most despicable of lies about him and declared he would not sue for damages.

During last year's election campaigns a vile document was passed around among some of the senator's farthest right critics. It was in the form of an affidavit from a Los Angeles policeman declaring he had arrested Kuchel as a drunk, in a homosexual situation, on a date about 15 years ago when Kuchel was serving as State Controller.

When it came finally to the attention of Senator Kuchel himself he suffered the most painful kind of personal injury, since he is the husband of a charming wife and father of a daughter in college.

If he lashed out publicly, he would in the process call wide public attention to the false charges, causing further embarrassment and pain to his wife and daughter.

The senator wisely contacted Los Angeles law enforcement authorities and asked for a full investigation.

Although the Los Angeles chief of police was not a Kuchel supporter, he won the praise of the senator for the thorough and complete inquiry he undertook—concluding that the information in the affidavit was entirely false and untrue.

The Los Angeles County Grand Jury conducted its own secret investigation and similarly found the affidavit to be false. The grand jury indicted the policeman and three others for conspiracy to libel the senator.

The policeman subsequently pleaded guilty.

Two of the other three pleaded no contest and are to be sentenced July 19. Prosecutors have said they will drop the charges against the other defendant.

All four defendants made abject apologies and admissions of error leading the court to observe, "They have established once and for all that all charges made against Senator Kuchel are without foundation and are false."

If Senator Kuchel were more vindictive and a "smaller" man, he would now claim his pound of flesh by suing for damages.

"But when I'm your age, Gran'pa, I won't be able to enjoy a greater California; I'll be too poor from paying for The Great Society."

ELEPHANTS INVADE FRUIT MARKET

Never try to lead a bunch of hungry elephants past a fruit and vegetable market.

A circus owner discovered to his grief how dangerous it can be. He was marching his 12 elephants in a parade through the streets of Nagles. Everything was under control until they went by an openair market.

Sniffing the food was too much for the animals. They immediately broke ranks and headed for the market.

Amidst the shrieks of vendors and customers, the dozen elephants rode roughshod from stall to stall, gorging themselves with all the fruits and vegetables in sight. Only when the animals had eaten their fill did they allow themselves to be led out of the market.

It is often as difficult for men to resist temptation as it was for these elephants. God expects human beings, however, to show common sense and not to expose themselves to allurements they cannot withstand.

Be master of yourself under all circumstances and you will please God as well as honor yourself.

"Watch and pray, that you may not enter into temptation. The spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak."

(Mark 14:38)

Let me prove my love for You, O Father, by resisting every temptation.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Fledging Bread Corporation Goes After A Lot Of Public's Dough

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Taxpayers of California can take a long look at this one to see how their money is being handled by the federal and state governments.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown announced that the state has approved and forwarded to the federal Area Redevelopment Administration the application of Reddie Bread, Inc., for a $65,000 loan under provisions of the Area Redevelopment Act.

He said: "The proposed project is for a frozen bread manufacturing business in Turlock. The project will provide 20 permanent jobs with an annual payroll of $126,000 after the first year of operation. Total cost of the project is estimated at $100,000."

This means, in effect, that the taxpayers' money is financing a new business to the extent of 65 per cent of the total cost of getting started.

It also means that the taxpayers are loaning money on the basis of $3,259 per person to provide that individual a job.

And, if the business continues, the individuals who obtained jobs at a cost of $3,250 apiece will earn an average of $6,300 a year.

JUST HOW thoroughly applications of this type are processed by the state is a question. The Department of Finance says it has "hundreds" of small business applications and can't remember the details on all of them.

A check in the office of Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan revealed that, as of July 2, no corporation papers for Reddie Bread, Inc., were on file. Also, a check with the State Franchise Tax Commission revealed the corporation was not recorded in that office.

Jordan said, however, that it is not illegal for a concern to use the designation "Inc." in its name and still not have filed its corporation papers with the state. On the other hand, the state would have no official record of the concern's corporate structure when it recommended the federal loan if no corporation papers were on file, other than the information on the application.

ADVICES FROM Turlock were to the effect that the area council had approved the new business application for a loan from the federal government.

There is also the question of how far the federal government plans to go, with the assistance of the state, in using taxpayer money to finance competition in various fields of endeavor.

How do the present manufacturers of frozen bread, which now can be purchased in virtually any grocery store, like paying taxes to finance a new firm in the field?

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Mis-Apportionment Can Deny Franchise

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Our "Great Society" maker giveth with one hand and taketh away with the other.

The Voting Rights Bill will be a sham when weighed against the appointment of former Governor Coleman of Mississippi to the crucial Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals. One of the first cases he will hear is U. S. vs. Mississippi. You know how he will rule! Our "Great Emancipator" shows his colors in the rest of the country as well, when he fails to support the Supreme Court's "one man, one vote" ruling. Since most Negroes live in cities, continued malapportionment will restore or freeze rural and "special interest" control of at least one house in the State Legislature — so the Northern city voters will still carry only a fraction of the political power of the rural voter. This, too, is disenfranchisement.

Open Season On Barry For Hurting Republicans

By LYLE WILSON
U.P. International

It is open season again on Barry Goldwater. Just like old times!

The pundits find that the soft boiled Republicans in the slipstream of the party leadership are ganging up on Goldwater now as they did in 1960.

BUT THIS OPEN season on Goldwater is with a difference. This time he is not accused of disturbing local, national or global peace with nuclear or verbal bombs. Now he is accused of disturbing the peace of the Republican Party. More particularly, Goldwater disturbs the slipstream party leadership which has been operating the GOP for 35 years as the 1960 Republican presidential nominee was just about the biggest bust of all.

But, in this 1965 Republican political mess, one fact stands out like a movie starlet in church. It is that more than 26 million Americans voted for Goldwater for president. It also is a fact that Goldwater was the worst beaten nominee in electoral votes (52) since Alf M. Landon (8) lost in 1936 to FDR.

IT IS A FACT, also, that Goldwater led the Republican Party to calamity in congressional and gubernatorial elections. But there remains the fact of Goldwater's popular vote: 26,449,960. That is better than Adlai E. Stevenson could do in his second time out against President Eisenhower. In his first (1952) go at Ike, Stevenson got 27,314,992 popular and 89 electoral votes. After two spectacular presidential flops, Stevenson remained the acknowledged and revered leader of a very considerable number of American citizens.

The John Birch Society and/or the Ku Klux Klan need not be draped around Goldwater's neck to demonstrate that he is a political leader for whom some millions of citizens may be assumed to nourish a real affection. This is true despite the lamentations of the Republican slipstream leaders who over the years have been slipping into the Democratic mainstream. Goldwater objects to that slippage.

IN THESE circumstances, Goldwater has accepted honorary chairmanship of the Free Association Society (FAS) which needs donations toward its objective. Goldwater defines the objective an effort to prevent a conservative mass bolt from the Republican Party. It is the thought of donations to FAS that chills the slipstream Republican leadership. These leaders know that a great many well-heeled citizens would donate to Goldwater's FAS in preference to the Republican National Committee if the choice had to be made.

So the $2 million or so that FAS will need each year to preach the conservative gospel will come right off the top of the Republican bankroll. This serves to afflict the soft boiled Republican leaders with nonstop hiccups and a tendency to waken at night screaming into the dark. The softboileds and the pundits can accommodate themselves to Republicans who deny their party and go loping off with left wingers to whom the name of the party is a dirty word. Such a one is Rep. John V. Lindsay, the liberal, fusion and Republican nominee for mayor of New York.

GOLDWATER denies that he would spark a third party or that his FAS will harm the GOP. Moreover, Goldwater, on his record, is no bolter. He is a team player. He is entitled to speak for those who cherish him.

Legislature's Acts Lose Demos A Vote

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The newspaper report from Sacramento states that the legislators have voted themselves a pension of $150 a month for life and at the same time refuse to pass a bill providing a measure of relief to those citizens over the age of 65.

I am a native Californian a good deal past 65 and I have never heard of a more audacious act in my life. Reapportionment was the excuse, but they all take it.

I have voted Democratic since I was 21, but I mean to change to Republican.

This brazen abuse of power at the expense of taxpayers is unbelievable.

A WORRIED-LOOKING citizen came to the FBI to ask if they couldn't do anything about a series of threatening letters he had been receiving for almost three months.

"Any idea who might be sending them?" asked the stalwart FBI agent.

"I have one little clue," said the helpful citizen. "The envelopes are marked 'Department of Internal Revenue'."

A SAN FRANCISCO policeman hauled a burly prisoner before the bar and charged him with drunken driving.

"What have you been drinking?" demanded the judge.

It was too much for His Honor. The driver was acquitted.

Bobby Baker Investigation Has Only Puny Results In Reforms

WASHINGTON — There are three reason—all bad—why the Senate investgation of Bobby Baker was a fiasco and its recommendations for reform a fizzle:

1. Most senators can't bring themselves to investigate their own—and Bobby Baker, from page boy to secretary to the Democratic majority, was their very own.

2. The Democratic majority of the Senate Rules Committee, which had been busily not investigating the matter for months, simply wasn't going to let any nasty scandal come out—which they could prevent—on the eve of the 1964 presidential election.

3. Senators love to reform everybody else, but hate to reform themselves. They have long imposed exacting conflict-of-interest rules on the executive branch and have buoyantly refrained from applying any comparable rules to themselves or to their officers — such as Robert G. Baker, who parlayed the influence of his Senate position into something around $2 million. The proposals for reform are so anemic as to leave most newspaper men and a few forthright senators with the impression that the rules committee is carefully guarding against doing anything adequate.

Sen. Joseph Clark of Pennsylvania, a non-conformist Democratic member of the rules committee, candidly points out the deceptive emptiness of the proposed new conflict-of-interest rule to govern senators and Senate employees.

DOES BOBBY Baker's misuse of his office show the need for a new and tough rule to prevent the recurrence of such abuses?

Senator Clark, who finds the proposed reform so mild as to be useless, answers his own committee:

"The lesson of the investigation is that only stringent rules of financial disclosure, and the rigorous control of outside activities, can insure against a recurrence of improprieties by public officials. . . ."

Senator Clark shows that the committee's proposed reform avoids three large areas of needed disclosure and then makes sure that even the limited disclosures of outside activities and outside income will be kept secret.

This is the fatal defect of the committee's proposed reform in that, as Senator Clark points out, "It does not provide for the reported information to be disclosed to those who have the greatest interest in seeing it; namely, the electorate. In fact, it studiously insures that no one shall see the information, save the chairman of (one) committee. . . . This empties the rule of almost all significance."

I THINK an objective person can reach no other conclusion than that this non-investigation of the Bobby Baker case was a massive cover-up. Maybe a real investigation would not have revealed more scandal. We'll never know.

This is not to say that Democratic politicians are always more intent and more adept at cover-up than Republicans.

But in this instance the Republicans had three of their best on the investigating committee — Sens. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky, Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and Carl Curtis of Nebraska. When they say that the Democratic majority used its numerical power to deny them information, to prevent calling of witnesses and to keep them from questioning Walter Jenkins, a former White House aide, they are speaking the truth. They document their claims.

THIS NON-INVESTIGATION of Bobby Baker is a discredit to the Senate and to the Democratic Party.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Second Anti-Poverty Bill Nearing Action

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—Democratic congressional leaders are planning to pass two, not just one, multi-billion-dollar anti-poverty programs this month.

In addition to Sargent Shriver's highly publicized $1.8 billion anti-poverty crusade, the legislators are pressing for a revolutionary $3.3 billion joint public works and area development project.

THE FIVE-YEAR plan is designed primarily to attack poverty at community, state and regional levels, on a more or less "do-it-yourself" basis, but with considerable federal aid.

Titled "Public Works and Economic Development Program," the second anti-poverty measure is scheduled to reach the House for a final ballot in 10 days.

This "catch-all" legislation will vastly expand and revise the administration's present controversial redevelopment and depressed area programs. A big chunk of the spending is to go directly to business to produce jobs and boost incomes in areas of low income and chronic unemployment.

UNDER THE PROPOSED authority, the funds will be allotted for:

Public works projects the government feels make an area more attractive to new industry — sewers, water systems, airports, residential and industrial streets, watershed and flood control, industrial parks, research centers, vocational schools, community centers, libraries, police and fire stations, tourist facilities.

Direct aid to business and industrial growth in depressed areas—such as direct loans to business for facilities (including equipment and machinery) and guarantees for loans for working capital for plant expansion and technical and managerial help.

MOST RADICAL CHANGE under the new proposal is granting federal assistance to communities distressed by both "low incomes" and "high unemployment."

The added "low-income" criterion will clear the way for several thousand more communities to receive federal help. Commerce Secretary John Connors, who will be in charge of these programs, will set the standards for granting funds.

Supporters of the legislation point out the vast new powers would make Connors a second anti-poverty "czar." His backers contend that in the future this anti-poverty approach will replace the more revolutionary one being pushed by "czar" Shriver.

Under the community-action provision of the Connors program, local authorities will be required to prepare over-all economic development plans, listing realistically what can be done and how, and detailing resources available for improving their own economy.

After plans are approved by the Commerce Department, the local communities will be eligible for assistance in the form of loans to attract needed industry, and grants for public works.

Many distressed localities now can't qualify for aid because of the matching requirements for federal funds. For these hard-hit areas this provision is being dropped.

Also broader criteria will be used to keep communities from becoming "high unemployment" areas. For example, aid will be given communities that may suffer plant shutdowns or the closing of facilities that could lead to extensive lay-offs.

Prejudice Has Its Followers Wherever One Is In This World

A COUPLE OF WEEKS ago I wrote that I was prejudiced against Southerners.

Unfortunately someone agrees with me. Wholeheartedly.

"I'm a native Californian and long for the day when the Oakies, Arkies, Miss. (sic) and what have you were kept out of California and Arizona by guards at the borders," the woman from San Rafael wrote.

I had admitted a prejudice, using that word, one of the more foul in the language. I had used it in sorrow, not in pride.

But the lady who wrote me is proud of her bigotry.

In a postscript she added, "They bring only criminality —trouble, tension—expense to taxpayers, etc., in California."

Prejudice is such a pleasant feeling. The mind can settle into a warmly mushy state and moulder, unhindered by the need to think.

IN EACH SECTION of the United States is a pocket of private prejudice for which each child is taught the rules.

In New York City it is painful to be a Puerto Rican or sometimes even a non-Jew. A Negro is a laughing-stock in Harlem if he goes to the mid-town employment agencies to answer an advertisement for a job, because it is so hopeless.

Midwestern girls with dark hair and addicted to tans find it politic not wear their hair in braids when they are little, because of the anti-Indian bigotry.

And in a good part of this country there will be questioning looks at the country club or party, wondering if the dark hair or broken nose denotes Jewishness.

I came to California with the name Fernandez, a fine old Spic monicker. In this state and Southwestern states a Spanish-sounding name leaves you open to the gentle bigotry which is always helpfully near.

The English used to be quite superior about the Negro-white prejudice in the United States, until immigration of West Indians to London.

In northern Italy, Catholics of Italian descent and Catholics of Austrian descent speak to each other only when absolutely necessary, go to separate churches, stores, bars and keep their political and racial prejudices intact.

PARISIANS CLAIM there is no prejudice against Algerians who have returned "home" in recent years, but those who say it haven't been to southern France.

No one is more prejudiced against a southern Italian than a northern Italian — with the possible exception of a German.

Greeks feel that way about Turks and Spaniards about Protestants.

The reasons are diverse; the results are the same.

While in Europe just after Little Rock, as it is referred to in two all-encompassing words, I was ashamed in trying to explain what had happened. Europeans had not heard of the less pleasant aspects of being an American.

BUT TODAY there would be no shame, for some are fighting "it," that seemingly universal bigotry against those who are different.

Johnson Aide Risks Position With Frank Talk About His Boss

WASHINGTON—There have been a lot of rumors and rumblings in Washington that President Johnson is hard on his staff, but no one in the White House has been willing to talk about it publicly. Last week Jack Valenti, special assistant to the president, made a speech to the Advertising Federation of America in Boston, and for the first time a presidential intimate struck back, refused to mince words and said exactly what was on his mind.

THE SPEECH was hard-hitting, and made Valenti the hero of the White House staff, though no one knows how the president took it.

He described the president as "a sensitive man, a cultivated man, a warmhearted and extraordinary man, one whose spirit never seems to be captured."

Refusing to let it go at that, Valenti then lashed out, describing President Johnson as "a man of courage, a man of compassion and a man of intelligence that is married to the instinct for rightness."

When reporters heard this they suddenly realized this wasn't going to be one of those "Let us now praise famous men" speeches.

In describing the president's day, Valenti said, "The president, thank the good Lord, has extra glands, I am persuaded, that give him energy that ordinary men simply don't have. He goes to bed late and rises early and the words I have never heard him say are, 'I'm tired.'"

WITH ALL the courage of Sonny Liston, Valenti kept swinging. "Contrary to popular notion, the president is not fond of those who continually say 'yes' to him. He thrives on new ideas, new initiatives, innovations and fresh thinking. If a man consistently agrees and offers no new counter arguments, that man is soon not asked for advice."

No one had ever said this before and, if he had let it go at that, Valenti might not have endangered his job. But for some reason he continued.

He quoted a top adviser after hearing the president suggest ways of solving the Guantanamo water crisis as saying that "It was a dazzling example of sophisticated diplomacy and shrewd handling of a ticklish, peevish foreign problem."

Then Valenti described the president's relations with his staff and it was a blockbuster. "Sometimes just before he leaves his office he will sit in the small inner office he uses for intimate conversation with members of the staff. There will be laughter and easy talk as the president begins and sheds the crisis crust that has accumulated during the day. . . . He (the president) is probably the most skilled teller of stories since Lincoln and their humor is much the same, extracted from the soil and the people of the land."

After several more straightforward jabs, Valenti wound up his speech by saying, "I sleep each night a little better because Lyndon Johnson is my president. For I know he lives, thinks and works to make sure that for all America and indeed, the growing body of the free world, the morning shall always come."

THE QUESTION that everyone is asking in Washington is how can Valenti possibly stay on at the White House after this speech? How can a president, no matter how thick-skinned, and President Johnson is certainly thick-skinned, allow one of his aides to talk about him publicly in this manner? The feeling here is that if Valenti had a grudge against the president he should have kept it to himself.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

'Unnecessary' Trick Develops Short Suit In Bridge Game

You must sometimes give up an "unnecessary" trick to set up a trick in a short suit.

One way of looking at it is that you get two discards: one in setting up the trick, and the other on the trick itself.

Opening lead — ♠ 10

West leads the ten of spades, dummy puts up the jack, and East wins with the king. East shifts to the king of clubs, and declarer plays low from dummy.

MUST SHIFT

East must shift again, this time to the jack of diamonds. Declarer wins in dummy and makes the key play of returning the queen of spades. East covers with the ace, and South ruffs.

It is clear that South can surely win six trump tricks, two diamonds and a club.

He needs one additional trick for his contract. Curiously enough, this 10th trick can be developed only in spades, the suit bid by the enemy.

DEVELOPS SPADES

South cashes the king of hearts and leads a heart to dummy's ace. Then he makes the second key play: he leads the seven of spades from dummy. When East plays low, South discards a club.

West wins with the nine of spades and must return a club or a diamond with a straight face.

Dummy's six of spades is high, but there is a chance that South doesn't know it.

DON'T SNICKER

Don't snicker at this unkind statement. In actual play, it takes a good player to know when a six is high.

It is only on paper that we are all champions.

In this case, South does know all about dummy's good spade. He wins West's return in dummy and discards a diamond on the six of spades, thus making his contract.

DAILY QUESTION

♠ Q J 7 6
♥ A J 5
♦ A K 6
♣ A J 7

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one club.

If partner responds one spade, you will raise to four spades. If his response is one diamond or one heart, you will jump to two or three notrump, depending on your temperament.

Moths Carry Around Own Infra-Red Beams

BY WIL LEPOWSKI
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON— Science has broken through another of nature's dark secrets: how moths navigate and locate each other in the black of night.

Georgia scientist Paul S. Callahan says the insects carry around built-in devices that transmit and receive infra-red rays — radiation generated by heat.

The beams are weak — only about a twentieth of a watt—but are potent enough to be detectable at half a mile and lead moths to food as well as to potential mates.

So far the research, performed at the U. S. Department of Agriculture's laboratories, Tifton, Ga., is strictly of biological interest. But it could have military significance.

For example, the guidance systems of missiles can always benefit through development of more sensitive "eyes" for detection of enemy targets. The Army is trying to improve infra-red sensors as night vision aids for troops.

Callahan reports in the journal "Nature" that the infra-red beam emerges from around the moth's shoulders. The location of the receiving mechanism is still unknown, but it could well be the moth's eyes.

Moths are obviously more wildly attracted to visible light. A few minutes on a lighted porch in summertime gives evidence of that. But in the dark, they need a more refined technique of getting around. Infra-red apparently gives them that needed navigational sophistication.

The "Heliothis Zea" moth gave off a temperature of 86 degrees at a wavelength of 9.56 microns. Epistor Lugubris was a much hotter emitter, raising the mercury to 109 degrees at a wavelength of 9.1 microns.

To prove that moths are also attracted to infra-red rays, Callahan put 100 corn earworm moths in a room containing a four watt light bulb covered with black tape. The tape completely concealed the bulb's light. Callahan then applied a sticky substance to the tape.

Fifty-two moths became stuck in a semicircular pattern along the axis of the radiation, indicating that they had oriented to the wavelength of the bulb, he said.

Where this research will lead to is not apparent. For military application researchers would have to probe the exact mechanism of the moth's radiating power. Even more important would be how the moth detects infra-red rays.

The Department of Agriculture, which is interested mostly in applied research, sees Callahan's work as possibly leading to better ways of attracting insect pests, thus bypassing insecticides.

Alabama Whiskey Feud May Be Bottled Up Soon

By DAN DOWE
The Birmingham News
(Advance News Service)

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — Gov. George C. Wallace and the Alabama drinking public may soon be able to bottle up a whiskey feud that has brewed for more than a year.

Until recently, about the only liquor for sale in Alabama had off-brand names such as Purple Cow. Possession of popular whiskey was grounds for arrest.

Now some name brands are legally returning, although only in oversized or undersized bottles.

The Wallace Whiskey War started last year after the governor pushed through the legislature a new 3 per cent license tax on all products sold through the state's liquor monopoly.

Major distillers retaliated by cutting off sales in Alabama. They said the Wallace tax would force them to cut wholesale prices in 16 other liquor monopoly states.

With the name-brand distillers boycotting the state, about the only liquor available once supplies were exhausted was from small distillers whose products were both unknown and unwanted by customers in Alabama.

Throughout the year and into 1965, customers in the state retail stores and private cocktail lounges growled ominously as they quaffed the off-brands.

One newspaper described the available liquor as "sheepdip." Wallace was warned he might go down in history as the "rotgut governor."

Legislators, jumping on the developing political issue, promised to repeal the tax when they convened in 1965.

In the first months of the boycott, customers snapped up the state's remaining supply of nationally advertised brands. One private club in Birmingham spent $100,000 to stock its wine cellar against the impending liquor drought.

But after scare-buying depleted old inventories, sales plummeted. Many customers went to neighboring states for their liquor, despite threats of arrests of persons caught with bottles not bearing the Alabama tax stamp.

Wallace rode through the protests with predictions that the loss of sales—amounting to some $35 million annually—would force name brand distillers to return to Alabama.

The governor's promise was partially fulfilled early this year, when some distillers compromised by selling their products to Alabama in sizes not available in other monopoly states.

Beginning in February, a number of well-known brands of bourbon and vodka reappeared on state store shelves in quart bottles, while the lesser-known brands continued to be sold in pints and fifths.

At cocktail lounges, where Alabama law requires that drinks be served from individual 1½-ounce bottles, the break in the boycott permitted return of many brands in the one-drink "miniatures."

Meanwhile, the disputed tax produced $1.4 million in its first 15 months. Wallace has said the revenue, set aside for pensions, mental health facilities and education, brought more than $4 million to the state, since it draws federal matching funds Alabama couldn't afford before.

Although Scotch and gin drinkers still find something to be desired in the selections available, Liquor Administrator James Caldwell predicts more breaks in the boycott by the end of 1965.

In marked contrast to the uproar of a year ago, few protests are heard at present. The Alabama legislature is past the halfway mark in its 1965 session, but no bills have been introduced to repeal the liquor tax.

And despite early objections, Alabamans seem to have developed a taste for at least some of the liquor they spurned last year. Even though competition is back, the state's liquor control board records show continued heavy sales for several brands of bourbon unheard of prior to 1964.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Many New Drugs Make Person Overly-Sensative To Sun's Rays

VAN DELLEN

Many new and useful drugs are making some allergic individuals overly-sensitive to the rays of the sun (photosensitivity). They develop a sunburn with redness and blisters after brief exposure. Others acquire hives, areas of pigmentation, eczema, or small elevations over the skin. The condition is suspected when eruptions develop in spring and summer and disappear in the fall and winter.

The Food and Drug Administration is considering a package insert warning hypersensitive persons not to expose themselves to natural or artificial sunlight while using the drug in the container. The most common photosensitizers are the tetracycline group of antibiotics; griseofulvin, the ringworm pill; nalidixic acid, a urinary antiseptic; the phenothiazine group of sedatives; and certain sulfonamides, including those used in the treatment of diabetes. Barbiturates, salicylates, estrogens, gold salts and quinine are implicated less frequently.

CHLORPROMAZINE is an example of a useful psychiatric product that must be used for years in large doses before photosensitivity develops. The reaction is somewhat different in that the skin turns slate grey, violet, or blue black from deposits of pigment in the skin. The process can be reversed in some by remaining in a dark room for several days.

The exaggerated sunburn response may follow the application of cologne or perfumes containing bergamot or citron oils. A deep tan develops over the touched-up areas. The same epidermal reaction occurs to some individuals after contact with plants such as figs, carrots, parsnips, and celery.

THE BEST preventive is to remain out of the sun or wear protective clothing when taking these drugs. Sunscreening preparations are of value, depending upon their formula. The popular suntanning products rarely are useful. Those containing red veterinary petrolatum (RVP) or paraaminobenzoic acid (PABA) are the most valuable.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

HEART DISTRESS

D. A. D. writes: After walking two short blocks, I feel as though something becomes closed in my chest. I am compelled to stop and take three or four deep breaths before resuming. Please advise.

REPLY

Consult your physician because this might be angina pectoris. Victims of this condition often get a feeling of pressure or suffocation beneath the breast bone after walking or during excitement.

FACIAL NEURITIS

A. K. writes: I had surgery for facial neuralgia and the itching is very bad. Is there anything that can be done to relieve this?

REPLY

Aspirin or trimeprazine may be helpful. This may correct itself and for now is much better than the severe pain of facial neuritis.

TEA DRINKER

E. D. writes: I don't drink a glass of water a week. If I do, I get a bitter taste in my mouth. However, I do drink four cups of tea each day. Any harm in this?

REPLY

No. All liquids and many solid foods contain water. You are getting enough if there are no signs of dehydration.

SIDE GURGLING

C. M. writes: At night, when I lie on either side in bed, I'm disturbed by gurgling intestinal activity. When I turn over on my back it disappears. What would you advise?

REPLY

Since you cannot stop gurgling, you might as well learn to take it or sleep on your back. The sounds may be transmitted through the mattress to your ear.

TOTAL INTAKE COUNTS

D. E. writes: My girl friend and I eat the same lunch every day but she stays fat and I stay thin. How come?

REPLY

What about breakfast and dinner? Exercise also plays a role.

Babydoll Look Adopted By Girls

NEW YORK — The babydoll look hits junior fashions this summer, states "Women's Wear Daily."

The basics like the skimmer, the shift, and the high up empire are seen with, ruffles flounces and skirts that have some swing.

The skimmer still tops the list, usually sleeveless with a bit more shape and smooth glide. The shift comes next . . . juniors favor the summer shift with long sleeves, collar and cuffs. The sleeveless overblouse tops a skirt set to motion, and finished off with a high shaped cutaway jacket.

SAC Refueling

MOSES LAKE, Wash. (UPI) —Every three minutes every day of the year somewhere in the world a Strategic Air Command bomber is being refueled during flight, according to the directorate of information at Larson Air Force Base.

Today's Health Hint—Change water in wading pools daily.

What to do until an emergency happens

Emergencies have practically no sense of fair play. And almost always pick the worst possible time to happen.

People seem to prefer the day your insurance lapses to trip on your sidewalk, for example.

And the car usually waits until your bank account registers empty before demanding expensive repairs.

There's no fighting it. But you can be ready. By tucking away some reserve funds in Savings Bonds.

Bonds, themselves, are emergency proof. You can't lose the money you invest in them, even if fire, flood, robbers or plain carelessness causes you to lose the Bonds.

And when something expensive happens, you can just take them in to any bank and get yourself solvent again.

In the meantime, Uncle Sam uses your Bond dollars to handle other urgent matters, like taking care of your freedom.

Buy Bonds where you bank or on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. Get yourself really prepared and you might even discourage a few emergencies from ever happening.

Quick facts about Series E Savings Bonds

- You get back $4 for every $3 at maturity (7¾ years)
- You can get your money when you need it
- Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, destroyed or stolen
- You pay no state or local income tax and can defer payment of federal tax until the Bonds are cashed

Here is an architect's own home with all the charm and appointments in keeping with the era. The masterful use of woods in the living room, dining room and sitting room, the two large bedrooms, and the solidly-built construction make this a fine home for one who appreciates quality. The low price is because the owner has begun an extensive remodeling project in the kitchen and baths, but was transferred, leaving work unfinished. Once you see this charmer you will immediately envision the great potential, both esthetic and financial, this home offers.

ORDER OF COURT TAKING JURISDICTION, FOR PRESENTATION OF CLAIMS, AND NOTICE TO CREDITORS AND STOCKHOLDERS.
No. 43102

In the Matter of THE HAVIC CORPORATION,
in the Process of Voluntary Winding Up.

THE HAVIC CORPORATION, having filed herein a petition entitled "Shareholder's Petition for Court Supervision of Winding Up Proceedings", and having prayed that this Court take jurisdiction of the affairs of said corporation, as provided for in Corporations Code Sections 4607 et seq., and that this Court make provision for the presentation of claims, settlement and determination of payment of all claims of every kind and nature against THE HAVIC CORPORATION, and determination of the rights of the shareholders, and who such shareholders are;

Said petition having come on regularly for hearing before this Court on the 28th day of June, 1965, and evidence, oral and documentary, having been introduced and having been considered by the Court; and good cause appearing therefor;

IT IS HEREBY FOUND, DECLARED AND ORDERED that this Court take jurisdiction over and supervision of the winding up of THE HAVIC CORPORATION, a corporation, and order and adjudge as to any and all matters concerning the winding up of the affairs of said corporation;

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that all persons having or making claims or demands against THE HAVIC CORPORATION, whether such claims or demands be due or not yet due, contingent or unliquidated, or founded only in damages, and all persons claiming to be shareholders in said corporation, present their claims with the proof thereof to McNeil and Swaner, attorneys for said corporation, Suite 832, 300 Montgomery Street, San Francisco, California 94104, within four (4) months after the first publication of notice hereinafter specified;

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that all creditors of and claimants against THE HAVIC CORPORATION, and all shareholders of said corporation be barred from participation in any distribution of the general assets of said corporation if they fail to make and present claims and proof within the time specified herein;

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the Clerk of this Court give notice hereof by publication, at least once a week for three (3) consecutive weeks, in the Independent-Journal, a newspaper of general circulation printed and published in Marin County, California, and that a copy of such notice be mailed to each creditor and shareholder shown as such by the books of said corporation at his last known address; that such notice shall be sufficient if in words, terms and figures substantially as follows:

"NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN to THE HAVIC CORPORATION, a California corporation, its creditors, shareholders, and any and all claimants and persons interested in said corporation, that THE HAVIC CORPORATION, has filed in this Court a petition for supervision by this Court over the winding up of the affairs of THE HAVIC CORPORATION.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN to the creditors of said corporation and to all persons having claims against it, and to all persons claiming to be shareholders of said corporation to present such claims with the necessary proof in this proceeding to McNeil and Swaner, attorneys for said corporation, Suite 832, 300 Montgomery Street, San Francisco, California 94104, within four (4) months after the first publication of this notice.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that all such persons having claims against THE HAVIC CORPORATION will be barred from participating in any distribution of the assets of said corporation if they fail to present claims and proof within the time and at the place specified in this notice."

College Band To Open Series

College of Marin Community Band will open its summer concert season Sunday afternoon with a selection of tunes ranging from the classics to popular selections.

Conducted by John H. Myers, the band will move through its melodies in the central outdoor covered area of the college gymnasium complex, beginning at 3:30 p.m.

Concert selections will include a medley from Cole Porter's "Kiss Me Kate," "Prelude and Fughetta" by Handel, and the "High School Cadets" march by Sousa.

Bagley To Describe Legislature's Year

Assemblyman William T. Bagley of San Rafael will report on this year's session of the legislature tomorrow from 9 to 10 a.m. on radio station KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" program.

The assemblyman will also answer questions telephoned to the station during the program, according to conductor Kitty Oppenheimer. The program will be rebroadcast Sunday at 12:30 p.m.

Counseling Asked On Airport

Marin County supervisors yesterday asked for a report from the county counsel and administrator on the advisibility of seeking options on land needed to expand the county airport north of Novato.

During budget sessions last month, the board agreed that no steps would be taken on development of the airport until an economic study could be made, a joint powers agreement with Novato drawn up, and other possible airport locations checked.

Yesterday Supervisor William A. Gnoss of Novato asked what progress had been made toward these goals. Administrator Alan Bruce said there have been preliminary conferences with a consultant.

Duo-Pianists Booked For Next Music Chest

Duo-pianists Arthur Whittemore and Jack Lowe will play in a Marin Music Chest sponsored recital in Forest Meadows at Dominican College, San Rafael, July 18 at 3 p.m.

The two have appeared on television's "Today" show and the "Telephone Hour" and have recorded many albums, including a record for children called "Major Classics for Minors."

In Training

Army Reserve Officer Cadet Paul C. Kruger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Kruger, 11 Almenar Drive, Greenbrae, is attending a six-week training program at Fort Lewis, Wash., ending July 30. He is a student at University of California at Davis.

Mrs. Janet Taylor is president of the Mill Valley Democratic Club for 1965.

LEGISLATIVE HIGHLIGHTS

Taxes Have Quietly Gone Up To Tune of $140 Million

(third in a series)

CAPITOL NEWS SERVICE

SACRAMENTO — (CNS) — For all the talk over whether taxes should be increased or whether there should be major reforms in the tax structure, the 1965 session of the legislature quietly boosted taxes by some $140 million.

All of the increases were in special fund areas, having nothing to do with the state's overall financial picture, and for the purpose of financing self-supporting programs.

But just about all Californians will be paying them, nevertheless.

First came the 1-cent increase in the gasoline tax—to 7 cents per gallon, to raise some $60 million to be used for repairs of county roads and city streets damaged in the floods of last Christmas in the north coast area.

The tax is supposed to end on Dec. 31 but the history of gasoline tax increases has been that, once enacted, they seldom are dropped.

Automobile owners also get hit with another tax increase which will amount to some $30 million a year within three years.

The $30 million bite will finance the doubling of the California highway patrol force for enforcement of new smog device regulations. The measure provides for increase in the automobile registration fee by $1 in 1966, by $2 in 1967 and by $3 in 1968.

The other tax increases are in the social insurance field, with the employees being tapped in one case and the employers in the other.

Workers will pay an additional $40 million in disability insurance contributions during the balance of 1965 through passage of AB241 by Assemblyman George N. Zenovich, D-Fresno. This measure is designed to refinance the DI fund, which currently is operating in the red.

The bill requires the increase in the contribution rate from the present 1 per cent of the first $5600 in wages to 1.1 per cent of the first $7400 in wages. At the end of the year, the rate will revert to 1 per cent but the wage base will remain at $7400.

Without the bill, the fund would have been $21 million in the red by year's end. With the bill, it should have a balance of $20 million by Dec. 31. The bill makes some important reforms by eliminating a number of part-time workers from the DI program.

California employers must contribute an additional $13.5 million in unemployment insurance under another Zenovich bill, AB518. This bill again, while increasing maximum weekly benefits from $55 to $65, makes some important reforms on benefits.

The measure would eliminate an estimated 38,000 employees from the program by requiring that persons who quit without good cause or are fired for misconduct would have to go back to work before drawing benefits. They would be required to return to work and earn five times their weekly benefit amount before drawing further benefits.

Under present law, persons who quit without good cause or are fired for misconduct must wait five weeks and then are eligible for benefits.

The measure also increases from $600 to $720 the income claimants must have in their base year in order to qualify for benefits.

AB518 increases the employer contribution rate by boosting the base wages upon which taxes must be paid from $3800 to $4100. However, it has an automatic trigger to reduce the wage base if income to the fund exceeds benefit payments. The bill also broadens the range of employer tax rates from the present 3.5 per cent to 2.2 per cent to a new range of 3.7 per cent to 1.8 per cent.
